CBD Expansion, Watershed New Goals For Planners

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Just as they tackled two major issues last year — parking and multiple-family housing — Andover planning officials are now gearing up to take on two new issues during the coming year: central business district (CBD) expansion, and watershed protection.

Those will be the next two chapters in the town's master plan, Principal Planner Nancy Jeton of the Community Development and Planning staff told the TOWNSMAN this week.

The plan to focus on the CBD and the watershed between now and the spring 1986 town meeting is "in keeping with" town planners' goal to have an "on-going" master plan, Jeton explained, "adding issues as they surface."

The Planning Board and community development staff decided last year to work on the master plan chapter-by-chapter, rather than to complete a written document that might end up sitting on a shelf, unread.

The planners believe their current strategy is "a better way of doing the master plan because it gives us flexibility from year to year," Jeton said.

Work on the watershed component of the plan is already well underway, the planner said, with the hiring of a part-time consultant, Frances Fink of Andover, who will begin a watershed study on July 1. (For a report on the town's plans to protect the watershed, please see the May 16 TOWNSMAN.)

Fink is expected to complete her watershed review by the end of this year. In the meantime, a study of potential CBD expansion will be "the big project of the summer" for other town planners, Jeton said.

The planning board had not intended to study the business district this year, although it was "certainly on the agenda" as a future master plan topic, she noted.

But the board decided it was time to look at the CBD after annual town meeting last month, when four private articles sought (unsuccessfully) to rezone downtown residential property for commercial use — and voters said they wanted to see a plan for well-controlled expansion of the business zone.

Jeton pointed out that a CBD committee was formed during the late '70s to study the same issue. But even though that committee accomplished "a lot of good planning," she said, "it was fraught with discord, and there was no consensus. It never came to anything."

To avoid that problem this time around, town planners intend to use "a more broad-based approach." The community development staff will organize the planning effort, headed by Jeton, but "we really need to hear from people about where they'd like to see the CBD going," she emphasized.

Open Session Confirms Pay Increase For Administrators

By Susan Rand

Raises of 4.3 percent to 8.9 percent were voted for Andover's top four school administrators over the wishes of one School Committee member who thinks some of the new salaries are too high.

The vote to increase the annual incomes of the superintendent, two assistant superintendents and the business manager was taken at the School Committee meeting on Tuesday with little public discussion of the matter which had been previously discussed in a closed executive session before the open meeting.

But that discussion should have been held at a public meeting according to Michael Lauranzano, an attorney in District Attorney Kevin Burke's office.

School Committee Chairman Donald W. Robb, who told THE TOWNSMAN after Tuesday's meeting that he thought the closed session was within the confines of the state's Open Meeting Law, said the salaries were raised after last week's signing of a contract with the school administrator's union showed inequities as the four top salaries were compared to those of the administrators.

The new salaries are for Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert, from $57,164 to $60,000, a 5 percent raise; Asst. Supt. for elementary education Lois Haslam, from $45,000 to $49,000, an 8.9 percent raise; Asst. Supt. Leslie G. Loomis, from $47,000 to $49,000, a raise of 4.3 percent and for Business Manager Francis L. Paul, a raise from $42,400 to $45,000, an increase of 6 percent.

Another reason for the raises, said Robb, was the difference between the salaries of the two assistant superintendents, who were hired at different times. None of the four top administrators are in a union.

Lauranzano told THE TOWNSMAN that unless contract negotiations with the administrator's union had mentioned the top administration salaries there was no need for the closed meeting.

"Our position would be that they would not be entitled to go into an executive session," Lauranzano said.

Committee member Susan T. Poore was the lone dissenter on the vote to

Selectmen Seek Ideas From Residents

The selectmen are looking for a few good ideas, "ideas for making the town better," Chairman William Dalton said last week.

During last Monday night's Board meeting, residents were asked to come forward with "little ideas" for improving Andover. One example that he suggested: removing an unsightly dumpster from the playstead behind Doherty Junior High School.

To encourage similar suggestions, Dalton said he would ask each member of the Board to come forward with "little ideas" for

Planners May Vote On Subdivisions

The Planning Board is expected to vote on preliminary plans for two proposed subdivisions during their next meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, May 28, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

On the docket are votes on Castle Green, a nine-lot conventional (non-clustered) development proposed for a site off Lovejoy Road; and Zambon Terrace, a six-lot subdivision planned for a site off Haggetts Pond Road.

The planners discussed both proposals last Tuesday night, May 14.

Block Party, Road Race Approved

The Board of Selectmen approved plans for a June block party and a Lawrence road race during a regular meeting held Monday night, May 6, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

Residents of Enfield Drive will be permitted to block off their street from Woburn Street to Ballardvale Road for a block party, scheduled for 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, June 29 (with a rain date of June 30).

The Lawrence Lodge of Elks won permission to hold its annual road race starting at 10 a.m. Sunday, June 2. The race will begin and end at the Lawrence lodge, passing through Andover along the way.

Also: Massachusetts Electric Co. was granted permission to install underground conduits under River Road to serve the new Andover Research Park, and under River Street to serve the Olympic Village subdivision.

Bay State Gas Co. received permission to excavate at 123 North Main St., 78 Lovejoy Road, Lot 7 Belle Isle Way, and in Dascomb Road to install gas services; and in Bellevue Road to install a new gas main.

The Christian Formation Center, River Road, was granted one-day all-alcoholic beverage licenses for wedding receptions to be held 3 to 7 p.m. June 1, 1 to 8 p.m. June 15, 3 to 9 p.m. June 23, and 2 to 9 p.m. June 30; a retirement party, 6 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. June 8; and a 50th anniversary party, 6 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. June 29.

And, acting as sewer commissioners, the board approved sanitary sewer connections for Dunkin' Donuts at 349 North Main St.; for 14 lots on Messina Drive in the Olympic Village subdivision; for one lot on David Drive; and for Merrimack College at Elm Street and Turnpike Road.

On Radio

Robin Reynolds, a senior, has served as publicity director at WRBC, the radio station of Maine's Bates College, for the current academic year.

She is the daughter of Gerald and Arden Reynolds, 26 Wethersfield Drive, Andover, and a graduate of Andover High School.

WRBC, which is operated fully by Bates' students, is a non-commercial station that operates out of the cities of Lewiston and Auburn, as well as surrounding town and the Bates' campus.

The station broadcasts, in stereo, music, news, sports and public affairs programming.

Annual Poppy Sale Scheduled

Police Intern In Baltimore

Kathryn L. Mulvey

Kathryn Louise Mulvey of High Plain Road, a sophomore at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, will spend ten weeks this summer as a Morehead Foundation intern at the Baltimore County Police Department in Towson, Md.

Kathy will observe first hand the day-to-day activities of a large, modern police department as part of the Morehead Scholar Program to develop future leaders. A Morehead Scholar is the undergraduate equivalent of a Rhodes Scholar, a student who demonstrates extraordinary achievement and potential.

An English major, with career plans in the field of journalism, Kathy has indicated an interest in learning more about the public sector and public safety. The Baltimore County Police Department has been a host to six other Morehead Scholars and is a favored site for students in the internship program.

Honor Society

Craig Sorrie, of Andover, was inducted into the National Honor Society at Lexington Christian Academy, in Lexington, on April 23.

One of eight students to join the honor group, Sorrie was first judged on his scholarship, leadership, character and service.

Kathy will meet with law enforcement and criminal justice officials from other county agencies and visit the Baltimore County Detention Center. She will ride with an officer on routine patrol, participate in a recruit training class at the police academy, observe police and courtroom procedures, visit precinct stations, attend community crime prevention meetings and observe top level staff meetings. In addition, she will be assigned to a work project for the department that parallels her career interests.

A graduate of Phillips Academy, Kathy has maintained a 3.797 grade point average at Chapel Hill and is active in many campus activities.

Columnist Linda Weltner answers a question from the audience during annual meeting of Friends of Memorial Hall Library last week.

Friends Hold Annual Meeting

The Friends of Memorial Hall Library held their annual meeting on Wednesday, May 15, at the library with V. David Rodger presiding. Newley elected to the board of directors are Eleanor Campbell, George Edmonds, William Munroe, Edith Ross and Edie St. Jean. Five retiring members of the board were commended for their service to the organization and the library by Rodger; Suzanne Burgess, Kay Powers, Joan Rollenhagen, Julie Weil and NeW Brown.

Following the business meeting, the audience was entertained by Linda Weltner, Boston Globe columnist, who shared many amusing tales about her writing experiences.

The Friends will hold their annual book sale on June 21 and 22 at the time of the Sidewalk Bazaar. Donations of used books are now being received at the library.

New Recycling Schedule Starts In Two Weeks

The last recycling pickup on the old four-day route will be Tuesday, May 28, through Friday, May 31, because of the Memorial Day holiday Monday. Because paper pickups are made only every other week, the next recycling week will be Monday, June 10, through Friday, June 14. Notices to Andover residents are in the mail to inform them of the route changes, which in many cases will mean that weekly trash and every-other-weekly paper pickups will be on a different day from the one designated on the four-day schedule.

Although this dramatic change in Andover's curbside collection schedule will require an adjustment on the part of most households, a five-day system will create more manageable routes, resulting in better service to townspeople.

Historical Exhibits Open

By Virginia Lopez Begg

The fads and fancies of three very different decades of American life are the focus of a new exhibit at the Andover Historical Society, "In Vogue: the 1930s, 40s and 50s." This exhibition complements the 19th century Barn Museum (now open to the public for the season) and the early 19th century period room exhibits regularly open for visitors interested in local history.

From Shirley Temple dolls to Barbie dolls, the new exhibit features items that caught the public's attention at some point during the 1930, 40s and 50s. Games, gowns and housekeeping gifts are all on display.

A Monopoly game reminds viewers of the Depression era when those down on their luck could at least make a fortune in play money. The dresses and jewelry of another time should make visitors smile and, perhaps, remember while the latest style in wedding gifts—waffle irons, electric coffee pots, crocheted bedspreads, etc.—will surprise computer-age brides.

The exhibit includes collages of news events that gripped the nations' attention in that tumultuous span of time. On a lighter note, the slang expressions of pre-"awesome" and "wicked" generations will inspire a few chuckles.

Visitors are invited to record their own memories or impressions of these decades in an area of the exhibit called "What Do You Remember?"

"In Vogue" was organized by Marsha Rooney, director/curator of the Andover Historical Society, and the exhibits committee, chaired by Joan Rollenhagen. Other members of the committee include Dot Tavern, Vi Curtin, Marge Fenton, Barbara Alden and Reta Buchan.

The Andover Historical Society is a non-profit, educational institution open to members and the public. For information on open hours, exhibits, tours, special events and membership, call the society office Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Library Changes Necessitated

With the groundbreaking last week signalling the start of Memorial Hall Library's addition, patrons will be aware of increased construction activity at the site. The Children's Room is the first part of the library to feel the impact of change. The beautiful picture book room has been closed off by a temporary wall and the Children's Room will function in cramped quarters until the completion of the new building towards the end of next year.

In the meantime, the Children's Room emphasizes that their collection is still intact, all materials are still available and all services will be maintained. If some of the books and records aren't where you are used to finding them, ask one of the Children's Room staff for assistance. Regular summer programming will be provided as usual and the summer reading program will begin June 24, according to Bridget Bennett, Children's librarian.

There will be little evident change in the main library, for the time being, and the staff will provide regular services to the best of their ability. However, due to construction in the rear, patrons are reminded to use the front entrances to the main library and Children's Room.

Health Director Warns Of Mosquito Danger.

The summer of 1985 can not be discounted as a time of potential risks of mosquito-borne Eastern Equine Encephalitis (EEE), according to Andover director of public health, Everett F. Penney, Jr. "Although the lack of rainfall and general dry conditions will help, data from the State Department of Public Health indicates that towns in eastern Massachusetts, bordering or within Route 495 and north of the Cape Cod Canal, are at increased exposure risk for this disease transmitted by mosquitoes," Penney said.

The best protection method available to humans is prevention of unnecessary exposure to mosquitoes. Only certain species transmit the disease. "As soon as we have a sustained period of warm weather, four or five days, people will notice mosquitoes out biting," Penny said. "Now is the time to eliminate stagnant water impoundments such as old tires sitting around with water in them. Once the mosquitoes appear, protective clothing, repellants and good common sense practices which minimize the risk of biting are the most effective controls," he said. "Since the species carrying encephalitis usually bites at dusk and in the evening, children should be kept inside or protected during these periods."

Severe infections are usually marked by acute onset of headache, high fever, stupor, tremors and, occasionally, convulsions. Questions regarding these or any disease symptoms should be brought to the attention of your private physician.

The latest information from the State Department of Public Health is that spraying will be used as a last resort when the environmental risks are outweighed by public health benefits.

Earning A Doctorate While Marrying, Raising A Family

By Susan Rand

In all that she has accomplished her family has been there for Mary G. Henderson, aiding, inspiring and sometimes taking her away from the school work that has been such a major part of her life since 1979.

Henderson, who is 32, received her doctorate Sunday when she graduated from the Florence Heller School for Advanced Studies in Social Welfare at Brandeis University, in Waltham. The 11 Quail Run resident has always known she wanted a Ph. D., her ticket to the field of advanced health research, but in completing her degree Henderson has married, helped raise a young family and worked full-time as a research associate at Brandeis.

She chronologically recalls her academic accomplishments by remembering how old her children were when she completed various requirements. Back in June of 1979 Henderson started her master's degree program, in the human sciences management program, at Brandeis.

"It was when Andrea was six months old," says Henderson, adding, "that's the only way I can remember it."

The master's program led to Ph. D. study at Brandeis. And for a time Henderson worked on course work for both degrees, which somewhat overlap, at the same time. Her doctoral dissertation, entitled "Casemix and Determinants of Resource Utilization in Alternate Ambulatory Sites," won Henderson the Brandeis Minkoff Prize for the best health/economy dissertation. She explained, in simple terms, that her doctoral study investigated the types of care provided at ambulatory care sites, the costs of the treatments and what types of health problems are seen at such sites.

Henderson plans to stay at Brandeis for now, while also investigating other job possibilities. But the Waltham school is amenable to her hectic schedule and her employers are flexible, after all, she explains, sometime you have to leave work early to go see your child's school play.

If not for the help of Colvin Henderson, Mary's husband, she wouldn't have made it as far as she has. They were married seven years ago, some time after Henderson's first marriage ended in divorce.

"We have the most equal marriage I know of," says Henderson of life with Colvin, who works in personnel at Woburn's Alpha Industries. "A lot of credit has to go to my husband. He's understanding and he knows I'm into what I'm doing."

Her advice for other couples who want to pursue careers and raise a family too, is to prioritize their lives.

"It works out but it takes a lot of planning," Henderson says of the weekday schedule that sees daughter Erin Caskey, who is 9, get to school at West Elementary while Andrea, 6, spends half a day at Shawsheen and the other half at the YMCA. Then there is Richie, three, who is in child care at Tewksbury. Their schedules are such that Mom is the morning shuttle while Dad is responsible for picking the kids up and being there when they are home in the late afternoon.

"A lot of people would throw up their hands and say 'I can't do this,'" said Henderson. "You have to decide if you really need to do it, for yourself, then you find a way to get it done. And it depends on your spouse, even if the person helps out (but) doesn't believe in what you are doing, it can sabotage you."

Mary and Colvin's social life may be the only casualty of their hectic pace as free weekend time is kept for "the family." Colvin is a soccer coach, and Mary was an assistant coach last spring. The family is also involved in the Unitarian Universalist Church, in town.

Mary Henderson's sense of family goes way back to her childhood in Philadelphia where her world was shaken up when, ten-year-old Mary's mother contracted polio, "the worst case in the history of Philadelphia," said Henderson, "twenty years ago she was given five years to live...and she survived." Henderson got used to having nurses and oxygen tanks around the house and when she started college Henderson found she knew a lot more about health than others her age.

Her parents, now living in Florida, are "very good role models," said Henderson, they have had their share of stress and the curves that life can throw.

"They've just always had a positive attitude. They showed me you can get a lot done when you have to," said the busy Dr. Henderson.

Exchange Club To Receive Charter

The newly-formed Exchange Club of The Andovers will receive its charter from the National Exchange Club on June 1, it was announced by James A. Schnoering, executive vice president, at the Toledo, Ohio, national headquarters.

The charter will be presented during a meeting at 6 p.m. at the Merrimack Motor Inn, Chickering Road. The ceremony will be followed by a dance. Members of Exchange Clubs in the area and their wives have been invited. Randall Hart is charter chairman.

Richard Mower, president of the new Exchange Club, will receive the charter from Lee Lyman, district president, New England District Exchange Clubs. Richard Collings will present Club Sponsorship Award to the sponsoring Exchange Club of Lawrence and Committeemen Thomas McDonough, Richard Lombardo and Steve Sciuto.

Other officers are Harold J. McPhee, president-elect; Michael Delucia, secretary; Michael J. Bova, treasurer; and directors, Ronald Landry, David Minicucci, Vincent J. McAloon, Jr., Arthur J. kWalsh, Jr., David M. Trovato and Ramsey A. Bahrawy.

Exchange is an entirely American organization. Its hundreds of community clubs in the United States and Puerto Rico sponsor the Freedom Shrine Program, a child abuse prevention program, National Crime Prevention Week (February), "One Nation Under God" (November) and a variety of youth service programs.

Honoring 25 Years of Service

The town and high school joined together to pay special tribute to Keith Gould, the Andover High School music director, for 25 years of faithful service to the school and community. The ceremony and reception began following the music department's annual Spring concert at the Collins Center. Photos clockwise from upper left: Susan Kachen and Tom Hollenbeck of the Andover High Madrigal Singers perform a dance number; J. Everett Collins leads the audience in three cheers for Mr. Gould, standing right; The Madrigal Alumni Singers perform for Mr. Gould under the direction of Andy Campbell. The singers are all former students of Mr. Gould ranging from 1977-1984 and came together to honor him with a performance; Mrs. James presents Keith Gould with a plaque from the choral students and parents recognizing him for his years of service as selectman John I. Scilleppi, who also presented Mr. Gould with a plaque from the town looks on; Keith Gould cuts a slice and makes a wish with his anniversary cake.

Chess Club Ends A Shining Season

This year was a big expansion year for Doherty's chess club and team. More than 30 students participated in the chess club during the school year. Fifteen of these competed as members of the chess team and took part in the United States Chess Federation Rated Tournaments around the state.

This was a year for Doherty to shine in individual competition. Jon Clough, Garrett Day, Jason Fox, Frank Padellaro, Kevin Mayberry and John Sandals placed in the top five in one or more competitions. Kevin Mayberry has become the strongest chess player in Doherty history. He placed second in his rating category at the United States Junior High School Chess Championship in Tuscon, Ariz., last year and was ranked one of the top eight junior high school players in the state this year. Because of this status, Mayberry was invited to the Massachusetts Individual State Championship where he tied for fourth. He is also active in adult play and frequents tournaments held by the Honeywell Chess Club in Billerica. At one of these events, he beat players many years his senior to capture a second-place class prize.

The chess team outshone the rest of the junior highs in the majority of competitions this year. However, Doherty's season came to a heartbreaking end when they were denied a chance to defend their state title by a freshman team from Malden High School. Doherty was tied with Malden at the end of regulation tournament play, but lost with a score of 2-3 in sudden death overtime where each player was given a maximum of 10 minutes to complete their game.

Honors

Mark Emil Hervol, 69 Salem St., was named to the honor roll for the winter quarter at Ohio State University.

The Andover resident received a grade point average of at least a 3.5 out of a possible 4.0 at the Columbus, Ohio school.

Doherty Junior High Happenings

By Amy Mencis

Doherty Junior High School held their annual Spring Open House and it was a huge success. Many thanks to the faculty, student council and the P.A.C. for their contribution to the evening.

The girls' softball, boys' baseball and track teams continue winning. The softball team defeated archrival West Junior High School twice in one week, 14-9 and 7-4. Stephanie Aumais, Katie Hollenbeck and Julie Salazar hit very well and Lisa Fossella, Kristin Tamarro and pitchers Julie Enos and Amy Mencis played strong defensive games. The Doherty girls romped over North Andover 26-6 with Julie Darwin and Alison Vaill both going 5-for-6 at the plate and Cindy Sherry pitching a fine game.

The boys defeated West Junior High School,

Greater Lowell, Central Catholic, Lowell, but dropped a close one to Phillips Academy. Standouts include pitcher Steve Surrette, Tom Murray, Andy Shea, Ryan Murphy, Rick Lafond, Barry Connors and Steve Mencis.

The Northeast Regional Invitational Track Meet was held last Friday. Schools from all over the area competed and Doherty places first in the girls' division with the Most Valuable Player awards going to Kim Hesseltine and Amy Jutras. Both girls won first and second place in their two events. The boys placed third overall, but had first-place finishers; Matt Corbett in the 880, Steven D'Urso in the discus and Mike Mooney in the hurdles. Both teams are undefeated in their league.

A Pilgrim To Visit Sanborn

A Pilgrim from Plimoth Plantation will visit students at Sanborn School in Andover on Thursday, May 30, to share with them the life and culture of the early Plymouth colony.

Eighteen Pilgrims and two native Wampanoag Indians are visiting schools throughout Massachusetts and New England as participants in the Plantation's Education Outreach program.

Mistress Mary Brewster, portrayed by Eleanor Mason, will visit the third grade.

The early Plimoth residents carry a basketful of tools, household items, slides and boy and girl clothing for students to try on. Each session lasts one hour.

The Plantation offers two programs: Family

Life in New Plimoth, relating to the Pilgrims, and Our Place in Nature, concerning Wampanoag life.

An added element to the Pilgrim program includes a classroom visit to the 1627 Pilgrim Village at Plimoth Plantation where students reinforce the classroom learning by hands-on tasks of splitting wood, baking in the outdoor hearth, tilling garden beds and more.

Plimoth Plantation is the outdoor living history museum of 17th century Plymouth. Its exhibits include the full scale replica Mayflower II, docked at State Pier in Plymouth Harbor, the 1627 Pilgrim village and a Wampanoag Indian campsite. It is open to the public April 1-November 30.

Kitchen Design

by David A. Clement, Designer

Two base cabinets of equal KITCHENS. And when you want depth can abut each other in a convenience here are some of corner. One would then be what the features you can expect from is termed a "blind" base cabinet. This is one whose access is racks, roll out shelves, micro-partially blocked by the abutting wave cabinets and wine rack cabinet. It allows storage but does not offer access, limiting corner storage possibilities. Three possible solutions to the wasted space in base cabinet corners are available in stock and custom cabinets. The first calls for identical, quarter-round shelves, one mounted on the cabinet door, the other on the stile. The second practical solution calls for several pie-cut circle shelves to be attached to the cabinet door. A third solution is the Lazy Susan.

There are so many cabinet possibilities when you visit the creative staff at WINDSOR

High School Journalists Place First

Andover High School Print Journalism students received a first-place award in the group projects category at the Massachusetts Industrial Education Society Conference and Project Fair on May 17. The class had submitted a sample of their school newspaper, The Rock, which contained editorials, reviews, commentaries and articles of interest to the student body.

Entrants in this category were judged on originality, skill level and evidence of coordination of efforts.

During the 1984-85 school year, the students produced five 12-page newspapers and a 30-page final edition. They also produced eight two-page newsletters called "the Beat." The print journalism class is an interdisciplinary course taught by Norman Immerman, industrial arts teacher, Susan Ooyevaar, art teacher, and Louise Tomlinson, English teacher.

Jill Vickers, a junior at the high school, received a second-place award for her letterhead design in the graphic arts category.

Airman Completes Training

Airman Tracy K. McCann, daughter of Margaret and William McCann, 20 Turnpike St., North Andover, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force personnel specialist course at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

Graduates learned how to prepare personnel reports and records and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

McCann is scheduled to serve with the 71st Air Base Group at Vance Air Force Base, Okla.

She is a 1983 graduate of North Andover High School.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

The standard stroller, with rigid frame and canopy top, is wonderful for taking your baby on long walks. One with an adjustable back will be the most useful. For the younger baby, lower the back so he/she can lie down; the 3-to-6-month-old can sit in a semi-reclining position; for the older baby, who can sit well alone, raise the back to the regular sitting position. An umbrella type stroller, because of lightness, is good to maneuver in crowded places. It's easy to fold up and carry with you. The umbrella type can be used from about 3 months on, since it "cradles" the baby in a semi-sitting position.

Kindergarten Prepares For Graduation

May has been an active month for children at St. Robert's Country Day School and preparations are underway for graduation. Activities included Olympic Days, May Procession and Maypole party and a trip to Boston for a ride on the Swam Boats at the Public Gardens.

The theme for graduation day, June 5, will be "Mother Goose on Parade." The children will meet "Mother Goose" and share refreshments with their families in the church hall after the ceremony.

St. Robert's is a non-profit, semi-cooperative nursery school located on Haggetts Pond Road. It has openings in the regular nursery (four years of age by August 31) and the maxi nursery (five years of age by February 28, 1986). The maxi program is the original pre-kindergarten program in the area and is designed for the child who may have already attended nursery school but would benefit from an extra year.

For further information and to make an appointment to visit the school, contact Joyce Rawlinson, registrar, 2 Langley Lane, Andover.

'Nuclear Dilemma' Workshop Theme

The "nuclear dilemma" will be explored in a series of lecture and discussion programs at Merrimack College.

"Introduction to the Nuclear Dilemma" will meet May 22-June 26 from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Led by Dr. Arthur O'Brien Ledoux, assistant professor of philosophy at Merrimack, and his wife, Nancy, the seminars will offer reflection and discussion on the physical and biological effect of nuclear war, the question of the inevitability of war, the history of the arms race, U.S.-Soviet relations, the psychological aspects of the arms race and new directions of hope. The programs will consider the philosophical issues of the innate aggression of humanity and the historical dimensions of nuclear proliferation.

A registration fee is requested. For further information, contact the Merrimack College division of continuing education.

Buell Named To Three Commissions

Sen. Robert C. Buell (R-Boxford), was a recently-appointed member of three special commissions established by acts of the Legislature, will be studying over the next few months some wide-ranging areas of public concern: health insurance, divorce laws and the soft-shell clam industry.

The first commission, to investigate the operations of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Massachusetts, was established by a 1984 statute that reaffirmed the medical service corporation's policy of prohibiting physicians from "balance billing" their subscribers. Sen. Buell, in describing the scope of the group's responsibilities, said, "We will examine the tax, reimbursement and regulatory status of Blue Cross and Blue Shield and look into their standing relative to other insurers, with special emphasis on pricing and contracting policies."

The second special commission will study the existing state laws and practices on divorce and their impact on parents and children. Buell noted, "Our commission has been charged with proposing modifications in the current process that has impacted so many families."

The adequacy of the rules and regulations under which clambers operate will be reviewed by the special commission on the soft-shell clam industry. The Senator mentioned that several issues will be addressed by the group.

Hospital Lab Is Accredited

The Lawrence General Hospital Laboratory has been awarded a two-year accreditation by the Commission on Laboratory Accreditation of the College of American Pathologists (CAP) based on results of a recent on-site inspection.

The CAP inspection is one of the most rigorous a laboratory can experience. The program uses unpaid, but well-qualified volunteer pathologists, doctoral scientists, medical technologists and pathology residents from CAP-accredited laboratories to inspect and evaluate laboratory services and to provide unbiased consulting services to the laboratory.

The inspectors examine the records and quality control of the laboratory for the preceding two years, as well as the education and qualifications of the staff, the adequacy of the facilities, equipment, laboratory safety and laboratory management to determine how well the laboratory is serving the patient.

Andover Marine Is Commended

Marine Cpl. Gary W. Looby, son of Carlton and Elizabeth Looby, 8 Beech Circle, Andover, was recently awarded a Certificate of Commendation for the outstanding performance of his duties while serving with the 2nd Force Service Support Group, Camp LeJeune, N.C.

Assuming control of personnel and equipment assets in the Motor Transport Maintenance Section, his efforts were directly responsible for accomplishing approximately 80 percent of all repairs completed, while in support of 16 firing batteries from the 10th Marine Regiment. His professional expertise resulted in sound quality control procedures that led to effective repairs on all equipment inducted into the maintenance system.

Waste Management On Agenda

James Coleman, acting director of the Office of Incident Response, Massachusetts Division of Hazardous Waste, will attend the May 16 meeting of the Merrimack Valley Planning Commission to present an overview on several of the state's hazardous waste management initiatives. As in other parts of the Commonwealth, the disposal of hazardous waste has been a nagging problem in the Merrimack Valley, most notably in the towns of Groveland and Rowley, which lost their water supplies to chemical contamination, and recently in Salisbury where leaking gasoline forced the closure of Route 110 and threatened nearby homes and the environment.

Coleman's presentation will consist of a brief overview on the hazardous waste management program in general, followed by a more detailed look at the state's role in identifying, assessing and cleaning up uncontrolled hazardous waste sites (the "Supefund" program); managing the collection and safe disposal of household hazardous wastes, such as spent paints, solvents and automotive oil; and responding to inadvertent spills of gasoline and other toxic materials either in transport or storage in surface or underground tanks.

A brief question and answer period will follow.

The Merrimack Valley Planning Commission has been actively involved in the issue of hazardous waste management, serving as one of the Commonwealth's official hazardous waste management information centers and providing a variety of technical and planning services to its 14-member communities. MVPC is assisting local fire chiefs and hazardous waste coordinators in the inventorying of underground fuel storage tanks and drafting of bylaws to protect water supplies and other important natural resources.

The public and local officials are invited to attend.

The commission meeting will commence at 7:30 p.m. at the MVPC's offices, 350 Main St., Haverhill.

LGH Realizes Energy Savings Of $1 Million

Lawrence General Hospital recently passed the $1 million mark in energy savings since intensive energy conservation efforts began in 1977.

"This savings is the result of a real team effort aimed at cost avoidance, led by Engineering Director Bill Meins, his staff and energy management consultant S. Forbes Rockwell," explained Hal Shea, vice president for support services. "While the hospital has added a considerable energy load through the acquisition of state-of-the-art, high-tech equipment and the installation of additional air conditioning since 1977, the implementation of our conservation program has significantly reduced energy waste."

A major component of the hospital's energy saving effort is the "duty cycling" of air flow that ventilates the buildings. Every day, fans must bring in 22 million pounds of fresh air to circulate through the hospital. "Duty cycling" regulates the air flow to non-patient areas of the hospital so that only those sections in use receive continuous ventilation. The air flow is never shut off to patient-occupied areas, for example, but the air flow to office areas is cycled when those areas are closed and unoccupied.

Future energy plans call for a furthering upgrading of the hospital's major air conditioning systems with the installation of an electrical centrifugal chiller by the end of 1985. A matching grant from the federal Department of Energy, awarded to Lawrence General Hospital in the fall of 1984, will pay for half the cost of the new $159,000 chiller.

To Lease Space At Riverwalk

E.J. Systems, Inc., a leading designer and manufacturer of burn-in systems, providing complete printed circuit board engineering, assembly and testing services to a wide range of high technology industries, has signed a lease for 46,000 sq.ft. for combined manufacturing and office space at the new Riverwalk Business center, Route 495 and the Merrimack River on the North Andover/Lawrence line.

Yankee Technology Corporation, developers of Riverwalk, stated that final construction fit out was near completion and the E.J. Systems would be moving 150 employees into 13,000 sq.ft. of a new office building linked by a glass-enclosed bridge to 33,000 sq.ft. of manufacturing space in an adjacent building by July 1.

Elmer Jones, E.J. System's president, stated that "after considering numerous properties, we concluded that Riverwalk offered the best location, available labor, a very competitive rate, immediate occupancy and tremendous design flexibility to maximize use of space for E.J. Systems' needs now and in the future. Without a doubt, Riverwalk provides one of the most desirable working environments you'll find anywhere."

Dan Burnagin, director of marketing for Riverwalk, said, "We are delighted to have E.J. Systems join the Riverwalk roster of fine companies, firms like GCA, Wang, Laser Industries and others. E.J. Systems' request for separate office and manufacturing facilities was met due to the flexibility of space at the Riverwalk and our desire to tailor the business center to the tenant's needs."

Construction at Riverwalk continues as the business center's occupancy approaches 45 percent. Renovations of an 83,000 sq.ft. office building and the 230,000 sq.ft. GCA Corporation building are near completion.

Site work is underway and the demolition of a 45,000 sq.ft. building is scheduled to create additional parking to meet tenant demands.

Sun Damage

Sun appears to be a skin ager, working not only to coarsen the texture of outer layers, but to weaken the underlying support structure too. The result: lines, wrinkles, a weathered look. Andrew Parthum, center, takes part in a recent planning session of the Clarkson University chapter of the Society of Women Engineers (SWE). Parthum, one of the few male members of the organization, is joined by other SWE members, from left, Kim Yerdon, Lisa Drury, SWE secretary, Diana Jones, SWE president, and Karen Loomis.

A Man In Women's Domain

Being one of the few men in a predominately female organization can be an enriching educational experience.

No one knows that better than Andrew Parthum, a senior majoring in computer science. The Clarkson University student from Andover is an active member of the Clarkson chapter of the Society of Women Engineers (SWE) and is the only male alternate student regional representative of SWE in the country.

One of Parthum's other major responsibilities is putting out SWE's quarterly newsletter, which goes to every student chapter in New York and New England as well as to members of SWE's national executive board. "I've learned more about the professional world as well as having improved my communications skills as a direct result of my responsibilities with the organization," recalls Parthum, who joined SWE during his sophomore year and is part of a small 5 percent male population which is estimated to be on SWE's national membership rolls.

In 1982 Parthum and a friend hoped to join a professional society geared toward computer science majors. Since none existed at that time, they chose SWE because of its affiliation with the fields of engineering and computer science. "SWE is one of the most active professional societies on campus, and I've been able to meet company representatives and explore the possibility of going to work for one of them some day," Parthum notes.

The primary goals of SWE are to support women in engineering by encouraging young women in high school to consider engineering as a potential major and to help women engineers to continue their professional activities in engineering following their graduation from college.

Though Parthum had no predetermined expectations when he first joined SWE, he admits to having gotten a lot out of it. "I'm not as shy as I used to be. I don't have a problem going up and talking to recruiters and explaining who I am and what I'd like to do."

Stickers, Fees Accompany Added Landfill Hours

Andover will open its landfill for two hours a day, four days a week, to accommodate town landscapers who want to dump brush there — but they'll be charged annual fees of $100 or more, while private citizens will be required to buy stickers to use the West Andover dump site.

Last month, local landscape contractors complained to the Board of Selectmen that the landfill on Ledge Road was not open often enough to fill their needs. The site has been open from approximately 7:30 to 7:50 a.m. on weekdays, and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays.

In a memo to the town manager, Public Works Director Robert McQuade recommended that landscapers help cover the cost of longer operation to approve McQuade's recommended annual fees of $100 per truck for up to one ton, $150 per truck for "small" dump trucks of up to two and one-half tons, and possibly larger fees (or tighter restrictions) for trucks larger than two and one-half tons. (The DPW director indicated that landscapers rarely use trucks larger than that.)

In addition, the selectmen decided that townspeople must buy stickers to allow them access to the landfill, for a $5 fee. Stickers will be sold at the treasurer's office at town offices on Bartlet Street.

Revenue from the fees will help pay for personnel to monitor the site, as well as cover material for the landfill, McQuade said.

Dick Murphy of M & E Tree Service, a spokesman for the landscapers, told the TOWNSMAN that town officials have agreed to open the landfill from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. and from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday, in addition to the regular Saturday hours.

Murphy said he was pleased with that agreement, and that he felt "better channels of communication" had been established between the contractors and the town.

But Andover's landfill concerns have not been settled with this week's action, according to the DPW director. In his May 3 memo to the manager, McQuade emphasized that if townspeople and contractors continue to deposit brush at the site at the present rate, it will be full within two years.

He suggested that the "life" of the landfill could be extended if landscapers would chop up brush and trees into chips, which could be left in a special area for town residents to carry away.

McQuade added that private developers of "large tracts of land" should not be allowed to truck brush and trees onto the landfill site.

He also pointed out that because the landfill is located in the Haggetts Pond watershed, state law allows only brush, leaves, grass, clippings and small trees to be left at the site; no building or construction materials, lumber, tree stumps, refuse or dirt is allowed.

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony reminded the board that in past years, town meeting voters have vetoed proposals for new landfill sites. He has no plans to propose an alternate site in the near future, he said.

Raytheon Earnings Increase

Raytheon Company reported first quarter earnings from continuing operations 10.3 percent higher than a year ago. Sales were 2.3 percent above those of last year. In the first quarter, the diversified electronics company earned $87.8 million, or $1.04 per share, on sales of $1.530 billion. In the first quarter last year, Raytheon earned $79.6 million, or $.94 per share, on sales of $1.495 billion.

Net income for the first quarter was $87.8 million, or $1.04 per share, compared with $79.1 million or $.94 per share a year ago.

Electronics, Raytheon's principal business area, paced by defense systems, continued to lead the advance in sales and earnings.

Orders for defense electronic systems and equipment reached a new high in January when government contracts valued at $1.1 billion were received. The Patriot and Sparrow missile programs represented the bulk of those orders.

Funds Have Impact On Economy

IDS Financial Services Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of American Express Company, has released 1984 investment figures that show the company's impact on the state's economy, said Louis Osofsky, of Andover, who is a local IDS representative.

The IDS Mutual Fund Group of 16 publicly offered mutual funds had a total of 22,868 client accounts in Massachusetts with a total investment valued at $181,074,000 as of the end of this year. IDS Life Insurance Company has 15,162 life insurance policies in the state valued at $739,387,000. IDS Life also has 12,962 annuity contracts in the state.

Massachusetts residents held 6,192 investment certificates issued by subsidiary IDS Certificate Company, with a combined minimum value of more than $79,862,000 at maturity. In 1984 more than $1,167,365 was invested in Massachusetts corporations and municipalities by IDS for its subsidiaries and affiliated mutual fund company, said Osofsky, who is one of 4,500 IDS representatives in the 166 offices nationwide.

The company's backlog of funded U.S. Government orders stood at a record $4.968 billion at the end of March 1985, compared with $4.251 billion a year earlier. Total backlog was a record $7.013 billion versus $6.402 billion last year.

The Beech Aircraft subsidiary's sales increased modestly over those of last year despite the continuing softness in the worldwide market for business aircraft. Operating results were enhanced by lower operating costs and improved margins.

Major appliance sales were slightly below the record performance of last year.

Energy services sales were lower due to lack of volume in the company's petroleum-related businesses and the reduced level of construction at the Seabrook power plant.

Continuing an announced objective to acquire up to five million shares of Raytheon's outstanding common stock, the company had purchased a total of 1.3 million shares by the end of March.

Earnings per share are based on the average number of shares outstanding during the period. In the first quarter this year, average share totaled 84.1 million compared with 84.6 million in the like period of 1984.

Provision for federal and foreign income taxes in the first quarter was $58.6 million in 1985 and $50.1 million in 1984. The effective tax rate was 40 percent in 1985 versus 38.6 percent in 1984.

Total employment at the end of March was 73,600.

Grecian Festival In Lowell

Spiros Sintros of Andover, right, and Joseph Licciardello, co-chairman of Grecian Festival '85, display poster telling of the June 7-9 event in Lowell.

Grecian Festival '85 comes to Lowell the weekend of June 7, 8 and 9. Officials estimated the attendance for Grecian Festival '83 at 70,000 over the three-day celebration with revelers coming from as far away as Michigan, Florida, New York and the New England states to marvel at the 20-foot Trojan Horse, take up the challenge of the Minotaur Labyrinth, stare at the gigantic Cyclops and take part in the dancing and feasting from the "Land of Myth and Magic."

This resourceful flock, under the spiritual supervision of

Rev. John P. Sarantos, try that gave birth to the growing interest of Americans in the Greek cuisine, crafts, arts, music, literature and culture of the coun-

'79, an immense undertaking and a spectacular success. Then came Grecian Festival '81, Grecian Festival '83 and now Grecian Festival '85.

Pike Presents "Mame"

The Pike School Music-Theatre Department presented "Mame" as this year's annual musical production. Under the direction of Pam Palmer, teacher of drama, and Larry Robertson, teacher of music, 27 ninth graders entertained the audience with a number of song and dance routines from this Broadway musical. Photos clockwise from upper left: Joe Mingoelli of Reading as the Lithuanian Bishop who could not speak a word of English; Katie Ahern of Oriole Drive as Vera Charles; Jim Yawn of Clark Road as Patrick Dennis, Mame's nephew, and Maggie Curtiss of Abbot Street as Agnes Gooch open up the show; Kendall Longo of West Boxford as Mame performs a song as Sarah Macdonald of South Main Street and Abby Shyavitz of Haverhill lead the chorus on stage.

Final Concert At Brooks School

The Ashburn Chapel of Brooks School will resound in organ music as chapel music director Earl Miller presents the final concert of the school year, entitled "A Grand Finale Organ Concert," Sunday, May 26, at 5 p.m.

According to Miller, "The contemporary conception of an organ concert, as a generalization, to the layman is an ordeal one sits through at which 'church music' is performed. The concept of entertainment seldom enters the picture. However, long before the church permitted the use of an organ as a solo instrument in the sacred service, it was revered in the secular society. Organs were instruments for entertainment, for the accompanying of dances, the provider of colorful tunes.

"The church called it the devil's plaything, but the commonfolk (both the poor and the nobility) knew it as an instrument capable of bringing pleasure to the ear. The Dutch Calvinists forbid the playing of organ solos during their worship services in the late Renaissance, but delighted the congregations with concerts before and after the formal religious meetings. What did the organists play? Principally variations on folk songs. The church may have owned the building, but it was the commonman's taxes that bought the organ and paid the organist.

"Even at the turn of this century organ concerts were a recognized form of public entertainment. The instrument, both visually and tonally, is perfect to provide enjoyment to the concert goer. It is with this in mind that this final concert of the year is being presented."

Miller has selected a series of pieces based on requests and favorite organ compositions from the Brooks School community. The concert will consist of works by Henry Purcell ("Prince of Denmark's March"), Norman Coke-Jepcott ("Bishop's Promenade"), George Frederick Handel ("Hallelujah Chorus"), William Faulkes ("Theme and Variations"), J.S. Bach ("Little Fugue in G Minor"), Charles-Marie Widor ("Toccata from the Fifth Symphony"), Edvard Grieg ("Hall of the Mountain King"), an improvisation based on Miller's license plate letters and John Philip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The Brooks organ was designed by Edward Flint, as an Aeolian Skinner pipe organ, built in 1938 and recently cited by the Organ Historical Society as "an instrument of historical value, worthy of preservation."

The concert is free. Brooks School is located on Route 133, between North Andover and Boxford.

Concert Series To Open

Donald Ingram, director of music at Pilgrim Lutheran Church, Warwick, R.I., will open the 1985 season of summer organ recitals at Methuen Memorial Music Hall on Wednesday, June 5, at 8:30 p.m. Ingram has presented recitals throughout the United States and Canada and has served on the National Council and National Executive Committee of the American Guild of Organists.

To commemorate the 300th anniversary of the birth of Johann Sebastian Bach, one of Bach's 18 great chorale preludes will be played at each of the 18 weekly concerts.

Ingram has chosen for his program: Choral

No. 1 in E Major, Cesar Franck; Prelude on Iam sol recedit igneus, Bruce Simonds; Komm heiliger Geist, Herre gott, BWV 651, Johann Sebastian Bach, Sonata 5, Opus 80, F. Alexandre Guilman.

Replete with carving of mythical figures, the splendid case of the Music Hall organ bears testimony to the artistic skill of the designer, Hammat Billings. The plan was executed in American walnut by the Gustave and Christian Herter brothers of New York.

Walter Hilse will be heard at the Music Hall on June 12.

Art Exhibit

The 1985 graduating class of the Montserrat School of Visual Art will show their art work at the Howard Kline Gallery, 150 Upper Main St., Rockport, May 26-June 16. The public is invited to attend the opening reception on Sunday, May 26, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Vanities Cast

ACT To Compete In Drama Festival In Waltham

It has been almost ten years since the Andover Community Theatre competed in the annual Community Theatre Drama Festival but this year the local company will bring "Vanities," their winter show, to the Waltham competition.

There, at the Spingold Theatre, at Brandeis University, three local women will perform the play on Saturday, May 25, at 4 p.m.

Starring in "Vanities" are original cast members Stacey Vaughan, of Andover; Kathleen Luther, of Reading; and Michelle Kylis, of Andover. Their show is the story of three high school girls and their friendships as they grow from teenage cheerleaders to womanhood.

"Vanities," which was written by Jack Heif-ner, will be directed by Andover's Ron Wackowski. The production staff for the show includes Marcel Gregg, Pam LeMieux and Gene Harris, of Andover, and Frances White, of Epsom, N.H.

A.C.T. last participated in the regional competition in 1976.

The 32nd New England Conference Community Theatre Drama Festival will run from May 22 through May 26, at Brandeis. Twenty groups from all over New England will perform at the event's six sessions. The judging will choose the four top performances, which will be again presented on Sunday evening, May 26. The winner may go on to national competition.

Spring Concert Offered At Academy

A musical potpourri will be presented by the music department of Phillips Academy on Sunday, May 26, at 3 p.m. in Cochran Chapel on the Andover campus.

Scenes from Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" will be performed by the Phillips Academy Chorus, under the direction of Mimi Bravar and Christopher Walter. John Clafin, P.A. '86, will stage this all-time favorite, assisted by Gwynn Malin, P.A. '86.

The academy's

"Eight and One" singing group, under the direction of faculty member Scotty Apgar, will perform old college tunes and barbershop quartet favorites.

The Wind Ensemble, under Hannah Clark's direction, will perform a "Suite" of Three Pieces by Henry Purcell.

Local students who will be a part of the performance include Stephen Shrestinian, Jenny Amstutz, Luiza Ezpeleta, Michael Greer, Susan Willard, Steven Willard, Sharon Hastings, Elizabeth Goetz, Judy Fournier and Maureen O'Brien. The public is invited. There is no admission charge.

Auditions Set For Production

Auditions for the summer production of "Grease," produced by the Andover Community Theatre, are set for Tuesday, June 4, and Wednesday, June 5, at the Doherty Junior High School, Bartlett Street.

The auditions will begin at 7 p.m. Those trying out for a dancing part in the musical must wear dance attire.

"Grease" will be performed on Aug. 2, 3, 8 and 9.

Clown Town '85

A wet, but very successful, "Clown Town," presented by the Andover Society, was held last Saturday for the first time in the renovated Central Park. Although a steady rain fall and showers plagued the day, thousands of people made their way to the fair for all the enjoyment of Clown Town. Proceeds provide scholarships, camperships, and other charitable activities Andover supports throughout the year. Livingston-Cormier

Mr. and Mrs. David W. Livingston

Carol Ann Cormier, the daughter of Edward and Mary Cormier of Weatogue, Conn., formerly of Andover, was married to David William Livingston, the son of Ervin and Carol Livingston of 96 Andover St., Andover, on April 27 at St. Joseph Church in Andover.

Father James Vitale of St. Augustine Church, Andover, and the Rev. Dr. Jack Daniel, Jr., of Free Christian Church, Andover, officiated at the five-thirty o'clock ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of satin and alencon lace fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, long straight sleeves, a basque waistline, and a circular semi-cathedral train. She wore a satin hat decorated with alencon lace and a finger-tip-length veil.

Mary-Jo Cormier of Weatogue, Conn., was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Cormier of Andover, Mary Collins of Cary, N.C., Lynn Tatro of Lawrence, and Lauren Livingston of Andover. Sarah Julian of Merrimack was flower girl. They wore floor-length gowns of tissue taffeta, with the maid of honor's gown in aqua and the bridesmaids' gowns in turquoise.

Paul Girard of Andover was the groom's best man. Ushers were Douglas Therrien of Andover, and Brian Cormier, Thomas Cormier, and Ted Cormier, all of Weatogue.

The Oscar statue is ten inches tall and weighs seven pounds.

The bride's mother wore a peach silk dress, complemented by a matching peach hat, shoes, and nosegay bouquet.

The groom's mother chose a dusty rose silk dress, with matching shoes and purse. A corsage of pink roses accented her purse.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Indian Ridge Country Club in Andover. Out-of-town guests from Tennessee, Wisconsin, and Maine were present.

The bride is a graduate of Scarborough (Maine) High School. She is employed as a department manager at DeMoulas Supermarket in Andover.

Her husband is a graduate of Andover High School. He is currently attending Merrimack College, and is employed as a dispatcher for Raytheon Co. of Andover.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple is living in South Lawrence

Registering For CCD At St. Robert's

St. Robert Bellarmine Parish, Andover-Tewksbury, is holding its annual CCD registration for 1985-86 year. All students entering grades 1-12 in September should register (or re-register) by May 31, sending their registration form to the parish CCD office.

New students should be prepared to present a copy of their Baptismal Certificate upon registering. Parents of children entering grade one should request a form, if they did not receive one in the mail.

A teacher recruitment drive is in process. Confirmed Catholics who are regular churchgoers are invited to enlist as teachers for the coming year.

For Those Of Us Who Are Older

By Janet D. Lake

Have you thought about a summer cruise lately? Have you browsed about Rocky Neck in Gloucester lately? How about doing both in one day? Too much? Not at all. You'll find it a most relaxing day if you plan to come with fellow Andoverites on July 18. You will board a lovely boat to cruise to Gloucester. Then you will have lunch at the Studio Restaurant (choice of schrod or boneless chicken) and then have time to browse or shop at Rocky Neck. Back aboard your cruise vessel, you will sail back to Boston. The whole day will cost $25 and where else can you get such a bargain accompanied by your special friends? A truly delightful way to spend a hot July day. Remember, July 18—$25—and you need to sign up now.

We'll travel to the North Shore Theatre August 14 for the Jim Nabors Show. The trip price of $15 includes transportation and show. If you'd like lunch out, why not plan to attend the hot lunch program at the center before you go? It's only 50 cents. But, again, you must sign up now. Would you believe it is not too early to sign up for the September 12 performance of the Stars of the Lawrence Welk Show at the North Shore Theatre? This trip includes luncheon at the King's Grant Inn with choice of baked, stuffed scallops or thin-sliced roast beef. All for $25. This event is always popular, so please don't delay signing up.

And, although we haven't even gotten through the summer yet, the staff is already planning two fall foliage trips. The first, on October 1, will be a trip to Vermont with lunch at the Woodstock Inn. Cost for the day is $26. The second trip, October 16, is to view Massachusetts' foliage with luncheon at the Old Mill Restaurant in Westminster. Cost for this trip is only $16. Because space is limited and these are always popular trips, you need to make your decision soon and let the center know.

How's your blood pressure these days? Have you had it checked lately? You can, and for free, every Wednesday at the senior center between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. Just come on in.

Do you, or anyone else in your household, need to be left alone each day, all day? Have you looked into the day care program at the senior center? You, or they, can be as active or quiet as you want to be, but there are people there and things to do. Why not call Jean Oppel at 470-3800, ext. 295, for more information. She'll be happy to discuss the program and how it can help your particular situation without obligation.

World Order Sunday

The Congregation of the Ballard Vale United Church (a United Methodist and United Church of Christ congregation) will celebrate the Feast of Pentecost at its 10:30 a.m. Family Service of the Word this Sunday.

It is also World Order Sunday for the United Methodist Church and a special offering for Peace with Justice will be received during the service. The Rev. Gary S. Cornell will have as his preaching theme "Pockets of Peace." There will be a time for fellowship and light refreshments following the service.

Five Hearings Scheduled

Five public hearings are slated for the next meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals, set for Thursday, June 6, at 7:30 p.m.

Florida developers will try for a second time to build a hotel on land they own on Old River Road. They need a special permit to construct the structure. (See related story elsewhere in this issue.)

Other ZBA hearings, which will be held in the School Committee meeting room, upstairs in the school administration building, off Whittier Street, include Max A. Mueller's petition to remove and rebuild his home, which was damaged in a suspicious April 12 fire that Andover firefighters are still investigating.

Mueller will need a special permit from the board to rebuild his home on his land off River Street, which is not a public way. He also does not have the minimum amount of land on the Single Residence B lot, as required in the zoning laws.

Helen and Charles West, 72 Morton St., will ask the board for a special permit to convert their one-family home into a two family home. And Henry and Margaret Jacques also need a special permit to build an apartment for Henry Jacques's mother. The apartment is planned for the second floor of a two-car garage.

The final matter before the board will be Rita Prussman's request to construct an apartment in a detached garage at 23 Center St.

Town Meeting Vote Allows Hotel Plan Reconsideration

By Susan Rand

For the second time in just over a year representatives from the Walsh family's Ocean Properties, of Boca Raton, Florida, will talk with the Zoning Board of Appeals about obtaining the necessary special permit to build a five-story hotel and office building on eight acres of land on Old River Road.

They were denied that permit last May after the ZBA decided that the then-planned six-floor, 299 room hotel was beyond their authority to approve. Board members said at the time that the decision to allow the 50 foot hotel, which was 20 feet higher than allowed by the town's zoning laws, should be brought before Town Meeting.

But since that decision the height restrictions for hotels in Andover have been changed to allow them to stand 50 feet, with a special permit from the ZBA. And, said Andover's principal planner Nancy Jeton, the Walsh proposal for the five-story building can fit into the 50 foot limit. The Walsh land is in the town's Industrial D district.

The Planning Board will see the site plans for the hotel, which Michael Walsh said will have between 250 and 300 rooms, at their next meeting on Tuesday night, May 28 at 7:30 p.m., in the third floor meeting room at Town Hall. And Walsh will argue his case before the ZBA at their next meeting on Thursday, June 6, at 7:30 p.m., in the School Committee conference room, on the second floor of the school administration building, off Whittier Street.

In January officials from Holiday Inn told THE TOWNSMAN they wanted the Walshes to build a franchise of their nationwide chain on the Old River Road site. But Walsh was noncommittal when reached at the Holiday Inn in Nashua, New Hampshire. He said a Holiday Inn franchise was an option but added that he had also talked with Hilton, Marriott and Radisson representatives about building for them. Walsh said he wasn't sure when he and his brothers would make a decision about a franchise operation.

The hotel plans include a small retail shop in the building and parking for 700 cars, Walsh said. In addition, an office building, with 75,000 square feet, would be built on the site.

If approved, it would take about a year to build the hotel, said Walsh. He hopes it would be open sometime early next spring or summer.

"We really like the area and are looking forward to building there," he said.

Last March officials from nearby Koala Inn spoke against the Walsh proposal, saying they had to remain under the 30 foot height limitation when building and so should the Florida developers. They also argued that additional rooms would reduce the demand for hotel rooms in the area.

Canoe Race

The March of Dimes 7th Annual Canoe Race, sponsored by Coors, will be held Saturday, June 8, at 8:30 a.m. The race will begin from McCarthy's Mountain (Lawrence incinerator) to the Crescent Yacht Club, Bradford. Registration will be at the March of Dimes office, 89 North Main St., Andover, Thursday, June 6, and Friday, June 7, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and June 8 from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. (before the race starts) or by appointment on Thursday evening, June 6.

A minimum pledge of $15 per canoe is required. Pledge sheets are available at the March of Dimes headquarters.

Planners May Allow Work To Resume At Olympic Village

By Sue Aucella Deacon

Developer Arthur Kalogianis of T.D.J. Development Corp. could possibly resume construction at his Olympic Village subdivision next week, if the Planning Board approves a proposal for correcting alleged violations at the site during their next meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 28.

No construction has been allowed at Olympic Village since the board issued a stop-work order for the 83-lot, 109.9-acre cluster subdivision on March 29. The development is located between Woburn and River streets in Ballardvale.

The board claims that the developer has excavated a 240- by 90-foot pit in the cluster subdivision's open space, and has used the pit as an illegal dump for building debris. According to the board, that excavation has diverted the course of a stream running through nearby wetlands.

During a continuation of a public hearing that began on April 23 (and has now been continued until May 28), the planning board last Tuesday night reviewed a proposed schedule for restoring the open space to its original condition.

According to staff planner Stephen Colyer of the Community Development and Planning department, the restoration would be done in phases, with town staffers inspecting and approving the work after each phase has been completed.

The first step would be to temporarily stabilize the slopes of the pit to prevent soil erosion, Colyer said, using hay bales or netting. The stream would then be returned to its original channel, and its banks would be loamed and seeded.

The developer would then be required to remove debris from the pit, remove stockpiled earth material from the open space, and, finally, to fill the pit with earth material and cover it with varied vegetation, including pines, crabapple and dogwood trees.

Colyer explained that at the town's request, soil conservationist Robert Morehouse of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service had visited the site and made a number of recommendations for "re-stabilizing the area." His suggestions were incorporated into the proposed schedule for restoring the open space, the planner said.

The developer has estimated that it will take five weeks of work and cost $50,000 to restore the open space, Colyer said.

The planning board did not vote on the proposed schedule last week, and continued the hearing until next Tuesday night, because the Conservation Commission and Board of Health had not yet reviewed the proposal. (The conservation commission and board of health have also cited Kalogianis for allegedly disturbing the subdivision open space and creating a public health hazard.)

But Chairman Margaret Bradshaw noted that the board might "finalize this" on May 28 — and that the developer might be allowed to "begin restoration after the twenty-eighth."

She emphasized, however, that no further construction will be allowed at Olympic Village (which is approximately 50 percent completed) until the open space has been restored and inspected by town officials.

National Merit Scholar

Phillips Academy senior John Winters has been honored with a four-year National Merit Scholarship sponsored by Oberlin College, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation has announced.

The son of Marsha and John Winters of Stirling Street, he is one of about 2,450 high school seniors from across the nation to be awarded a college-sponsored National Merit Scholarship, according to the organization.

Scholarships have been awarded only to National Merit Finalists, who were chosen from among 15,000 Semifinalists in the annual nationwide scholarship competition after meeting "rigorous requirements."

More than one million high school juniors entered the competition by taking a 1983 qualifying test, the PSAT/NMSQT; top scorers from all 50 states advanced to Semifinalist standing.

Day Care Center Denied

By Susan Rand

Trying to declare their denial "positive," the Zoning Board of Appeals said no to a plan for a day care center in a home at the corner of Lowell Street and Wild Rose Drive.

The five member board decided, at a deliberation meeting on Tuesday evening, that a lack of parking and plans for a maximum of 47 children at the site were the reasons for their denial. But their unanimous vote to deny the special permit request from Gwen Hedrick, 185 Lowell St., was peppered with comments that the plan wouldn't otherwise be a detriment to the neighborhood.

"I don't think a day care center in that location would be a detriment if we had a handle on the number (of children) there and the parking," said board Chairman Wesley Whitney. "It is beyond being a 'residential' street." And, he added, the decision does not preclude a resubmission of the proposal.

Hedrick and her daughters planned to run their Cuddle Care Inc. business in a home that has been empty for ten years. They had a purchase and sale agreement on the property, which is now owned by Compagnone Realty Trust, of Lowell. That agreement was contingent upon their receipt of the special permit from the ZBA.

Hedrick and daughter, Sally Norris, left Tuesday's meeting immediately after the denial was announced, refusing to comment on the board's decision or whether they would resubmit their proposal.

Their plans for the day care center, which would accept children aged two years and nine months and older, had mixed support from the Wild Rose Drive neighborhood.

The April 4 public hearing before the ZBA brought over a dozen Wild Rose neighbors who complained loudly about the Hedrick plan. But Hedrick, a kindergarten teacher herself, also presented the board with a petition bearing 30 names of neighborhood supporters. And there were also area residents speaking in favor of her business at last month's hearing.

Residents opposed to the center had said traffic and noise from the site would disrupt their neighborhood. They also argued that a covenant authored by the developer who built the Wild Rose Drive

Retired General Speaker

Brigadier General Eugene F. McAuliffe of Tewksbury, U.S. Army-Ret., will speak on his World War II experiences during Andover's Memorial Day ceremonies, scheduled for Monday morning, May 27, at Memorial Auditorium on Whittier Street.

The ceremonies will follow the traditional parade, which will begin at 9:30 a.m. on Florence Street, then proceed along Elm Street to Elm Square, down Main Street, Chestnut Street, and Whittier Street to the auditorium. Parade Marshals are Commander Patrick Flynn, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Commander Clarence Johnson, American Legion; and John J. Lewis, director of Veterans Services.

John Doherty of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will serve as master of ceremonies during the memorial exercises. The opening prayer will be offered by the Reverend Richard T. O'Leary, O.S.A., of St. Augustine's Church. The Andover High School Band will then play the national anthem, followed by a eulogy offered by State Representative Susan Tucker.

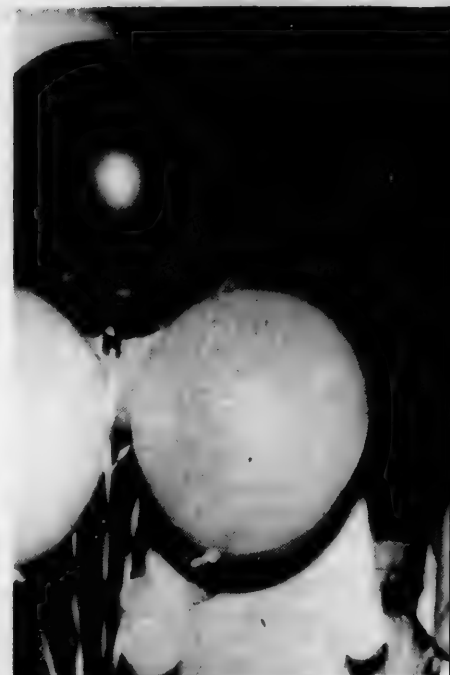

Sharon Tentarelli of the Girl Scouts will read "In Flanders Field," followed by a hymn played by Clan McPherson Band. John Winters of the Boy Scouts will read the Gettysburg Address, followed by a hymn sung by the Andover Choral Society.

At the completion of Brigadier General McAuliffe's remarks, Anita Jerackas and Virginia Flynn of the V.F.W. Auxiliary will place wreaths at the auditorium. The Reverend Gary Cornell of Ballard Vale United Church will offer the benediction. V.F.W. and American Legion firing squads will fire a volley, followed by Taps, played by John Stephens and Dino Martone (echo).

Memorial Day observances will begin at 7 a.m. Monday at West Parish Ceme-

The Public Forum

Unfortunate

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The editorial in the May 2 issue of the TOWNSMAN is unfortunate both in its tone and in substance. In presenting its views over the rightful role of the administration versus the school committee in matters of curriculum change, the newspaper had a responsibility to its readers to articulate the school governance issue with some degree of objectivity.

Massachusetts has the distinction of leading the nation in the early introduction of public schools. The Commonwealth has consistently placed the responsibility for public education of its youth in the hands of the local communities. Of course, the school committee has served as the representative body which oversees the operation of local schools. Voters elect community members to establish goals for local education, to develop policy and to approve of, provide financial support and to evaluate school programs. Of equal importance, school administrators have responsibility for assessing the educational needs of children and for implementing appropriate programs. This division of responsibility should not be seen as adversarial, but can and should be the basis of mutually supportive and collaborative efforts between committee members and professional educators.

In Andover we are fortunate to have conscientious committee members who take their responsibility for program approval seriously and who ask questions which should be on the mind of every parent. "Is it the best program for our children?" "Is it supported by current research?" "Are there options available for individual students?"

An open, healthy educational system is strengthened by exchange of ideas and debate and by administrators and elected officials who are responsive to the community's needs. A discussion between these groups is enhanced when the local press offers a balanced interpretation of these events to its community.

An Invitation

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The Andover Patriotic Holiday Committee and the Street of Memorial Flags Committee extends an invitation to all Andover veterans to join with them in honoring our war dead and celebrating the 40th anniversary year of the end of W.W. II by marching in this year's Memorial Day parade.

The vote for additional funds at this year's Town Meeting has allowed us to expand the parade by adding several more bands and marching units. The number of Memorial Flags to be flown from utility poles in town has also been increased.

A new surge of patriotism is being felt in Andover and we urge you W.W.I, W.W.II, Korean and Vietnam veterans to participate in this observance by marching with us instead of just standing along the parade route as spectators.

If you will report to the starting area of the parade at the corner of Florence and Elm Street, you will be placed in the first division of the parade. Uniforms or parts of uniforms may be worn, but are not necessary.

SADD Speaker's Painful Impact

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

In the nine years I have lived in Andover, I have experienced few individuals whose words have held the impact of Mr. James Powers, guest speaker at Andover High's "Pre-Prom Assembly" sponsored by SADD, Students Against Drunk Driving.

Mr. Powers, his words charged with emotion, shared the heartrending story of the effect of drinking and driving on his life. . . from his first beers at age 15 to three close friends dying after a graduation party, and finally, to causing the recent death of his five-year-old son.

I commend Mr. Powers for having the courage to share his tragedy and admit his judgment errors to the audience. It was obviously painful for him to do so, but his pain made a visible impact on many of the students in the audience.

I am sorry that so few parents were able to attend and the assembly seemed limited to just those students planning to attend the prom. The lessons Mr. Powers taught, "Think before you drink. Don't drive! It can happen to you!" are certainly applicable to every adult and teenager.

Thanks

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

On behalf of the Andover Council on Aging, I wish to thank David Solomont, administrator of Academy Manor Nursing Home, and the Collins Center staff for bring opera to Andover and inviting a group of senior citizens to be their guests. The May 5 performance of the "Barber of Seville" was enjoyed by a group of 30 Andover seniors who accepted their generous invitation to attend this performance at no charge. The sponsorship of such fine performances by Academy Manor and other local businesses affords Andover residents the opportunity to enjoy fine entertainment at a reasonable cost.

Zoning Board Commended

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

The town of Andover, as other communities, has laws that define business and residential properties. Continually, individuals attempt to gain variances for these guidelines to satisfy some "get rich quick" scheme. The board of appeals has the final say upon whether the properties in question can be reclassified. Its wisdom and decisions are crucial to the town's future.

A case in point is the former Neal property at 326 South Main St. This lot was sold to a businessman for a possible commercial venture, i.e. a funeral home. Such a reality would have devastated the entire area and opened South Main Street to the possibility of future commercialism.

The plan was rejected and the property was subsequently acquired by Mr. George Long, a local builder and craftsman who had formerly purchased and refurbished the former Bean homestead, also on South Main Street. Mr. Long gutted the Neal home and totally rebuilt the structure into what is now a worthy addition to the community.

We must applaud the board of appeals members for their indepth study of this situation and for their final decision. May their wisdom be as far-reaching in all their future evaluations.

We must likewise applaud Mr. Long for his craftsmanship and artistic vision in creating a showplace from a ruin.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — May 1910

Miss Alice Kendall has accepted a position on the Yale College library in which she will enter September first. Miss Kendall, who graduates from Simmons College this month, will be followed to her new work by the hearty good wishes of her many friends.

Miss Rosalind Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Wood, was one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of her cousin, Beatrice Banning Ayer, and Lieutenant Smith Patton, Jr., at Pride's Crossing last week.

It is rumored that several houses in West Andover have been entered recently and a number of articles stolen. No clue as to the intruder has yet been found.

New York — Glenn H. Curtiss flew from Albany to New York City in an aeroplane, winning the $10,000 prize offered by the New York World. He covered the distance of 137 miles in two hours and 32 minutes, and came to earth as easily and as lightly as a pigeon. His average speed for the distance — 54.06 miles an hour — surpasses any record ever made by an aeroplane in long distance flight, and in its entirety his feat perhaps eclipses anything man has attempted in an heavier-than-air machine.

Andover is at last awakening to the automobile, and no better evidence of the truth of this could be asked than the increased facilities being provided by the local dealers. This week Buxton and Coleman began remodeling of a very superior location for a new garage at the corner of Park and Bartlett streets.

50 Years Ago — May 1935

Tales of Nazi terrorism beneath the "mailed fist" of Hitler are sheer propaganda, according to Miss Claire Duemling of West Andover, returned recently from a year's study at Munich, Germany. "Garbled stories smeared with sensationalism are responsible for many popular misconceptions regarding conditions in Germany today," was her preface to a frank discussion which blasted many of the misstatements prevalent about the German situation. As for war, she dismissed that much debated topic with a shrug. "Germany is certainly not prepared for war, and nothing is further from her desires, for the present at least."

Raymond Hoyer, popular local monarch of the Phillips academy bird sanctuary, now has under his care "Pony" and "Pop," two of the Eskimo dogs which recently returned from the South Polar regions with Admiral Byrd. Richard Russell of North Andover, who made the trip with Admiral Byrd, has six of those dogs in his possession, and two of them he has turned over to Mr. Hoyer. Both "Pony" and "Pop" were used in hauling sledges on the 88 day trip to the Queen Maud range.

The best Andover Garden club flower show in years was the unanimous verdict of the 550 to 600 garden lovers from all over New England who had the privilege of witnessing the annual show held last Tuesday at the estate of Alfred L. Ripley on Central street.

25 Years Ago — May 1960

Ceremonies tomorrow will mark the official opening of a 15.2-mile, $19-million section of Interstate and Defense Highway Route 93, it was reported to Governor Foster Furcolo by State Public Works Chairman Anthony DiNatale. The new northern expressway section will handle traffic between Route 128 in Reading and the junction of Route 110 and 113 in Methuen.

Administrative Plan Tabled

A plan to hire administrative help and change the duties of the assistant principals at Andover High has been mothballed for this year, scheduled to return during next year's budget deliberations.

For two weeks the School Committee had criticized the plan, put forth by Leslie G. Loomis, assistant superintendent for secondary education, who touted it as a way to give the Shawsheen Road school a needed "shot in the arm."

Loomis wanted to hire two high school teachers as administrative assistants, who would each work four-tenths time, to handle administrative chores now assigned to the two assistant principals. By freeing up the two assistant principals Loomis had revamped their jobs so that one would be in charge of all extracurricular student programs, creating a director of student activities post, which he said would help the lagging school spirit at the high school.

But in memo to the School Committee Superintendent

Kenneth R. Seifert withdrew the plan from committee consideration at the meeting on Tuesday, citing "a number of gaps in our present structure."

Seifert went on to say that "resources at this time are not available to correct what I consider to be a situation that needs addressing." He will bring the plan back next year, he wrote.

Loomis had planned to reduce school system costs by $27,500 to fund the two administrative posts and another program at Doherty Junior High, which was approved on Tuesday. (See story elsewhere in this issue.) But committee members were critical of the budget cutbacks, saying they destroyed the credibility of the budgeting done earlier in the year.

The plan did have support from Acting High School Principal Stephen Richardson who told the committee, at their May 9 meeting, that the student activities post would be a welcomed change at the school. Andover Education Association President Steve Jankauskas spoke out against the budget cuts included in the plan at that meeting.

Restitution Will Be Part Of Vandalism Punishment

By Susan Rand

Punishment for three of the four Andover juveniles who confessed to vandalizing the Doherty Junior High School last March 1 will include restitution for the damage they caused and community service work to be done without pay.

At a closed trial in juvenile court at Lawrence District Court, last Wednesday, May 15, three of the boys admitted to sufficient facts of the case, said Assistant District Attorney Patricia Dowling, who prosecuted the case. They were all found delinquent of the charges, a decision which is akin to a guilty finding, said Dowling, explaining that are no guilty findings in juvenile court.

The boys were each fined $295.67, which amounts to one quarter of the total $1,182.68 damage they caused. Each of the three was also assigned to complete 40 hours of community service work, done either in the Andover school system or elsewhere in town. And the boys were also ordered to pay $15 each, a victim-witness fee which is earmarked for the program of the same name. The youths will also be on probation for a year.

A fourth boy, who Dowling said is in custody of the Department of Youth Services, appeared in court yesterday, after THE TOWNSMAN went to press.

Dowling asked Judge Wendy Gershengorn to make the three youths responsible for payment of the total $1,182.68 in damages, asking that if one boy defaults on payments the others must make up the difference. But Gershengorn turned down that request, the assistant district attorney said.

The boys, aged 15 and 16 and all from Andover, were charged with breaking and entering in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony, malicious destruction over $100 and sounding a false fire alarm.

The damage they left at the Bartlet Street school included broken interior windows and a smashed display case, ransacked classrooms and one teacher's desk and a graffiti-scribbled blackboard. They also set off fire extinguishers in the building.

The fines and work assignments imposed on this group of youths is much less severe than the penalties set for

A Gift From The Sea

The Massachusetts Audubon Society is sponsoring a dinner program/discussion of Anne Morrow Lindbergh's book, "A Gift From the Sea," on Thursday, May 30, at 6:30 p.m. at the Endicott Regional Center, 346 Grapevine Road, Wenham. The imagery used in the book and how she used natural objects from the shore to reinforce ideas will be discussed. A field trip to the shore on Saturday, June 1, will explore and discover the natural history of seashore life.

Lowell Beats Andover

With runs in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, the Lowell Red Raiders managed to keep a safe distance and defeat the Andover High Warriors 5-1 in softball action Monday. Andover's record fell to 4-9 with this loss and just a few games left in the season. Photos clockwise from upper left: Rubina Carver gets ready to release her pitch; centerfielder, Christine Hashem, stops ball from getting by; Christine Gargalowitz swings, but is unable to make contact.

Tennis Team Still Undefeated

By Jen Hechemy

The Andover High School girls' tennis team are still undefeated with two more matches to go before finishing their season. Under the coaching of Karen Kennedy, the girls' winning record is 16-0.

The girls hosted Lawrence on Monday, gaining a 5-0 victory. Anne Abele won first singles 6-0, 6-0. Ronnie Kovner won second singles 6-0, 6-0 and Sue Pelleter won third singles 6-3, 6-0. Kim Guild and Meg Sullivan won first doubles 6-0, 6-0, and Amy Shine and Amy Calontuoni won second doubles 6-0, 6-0.

The girls traveled to Lowell, one of the toughest teams, on Wednesday to capture a 5-0 victory. Sue Clark won first singles 6-2, 6-2, Capt. Katie D'Urson won second singles 6-1, 6-2, and Capt. Anne Abele won third singles in three sets, 3-6, 6-0, 6-1. Lisa Weingarten and Hayley Hanigan won first doubles 6-1, 6-3 and Erin Kaufman and Ronnie Kovner won second doubles 6-1, 6-1. Jen Hechemy and Liz Jurek won 6-2, 6-2 in the unofficials. Meg Sullivan and Kim Guild won doubles 8-1 and Kim Murphy and Tracey Costello won 8-1.

The girls went to Tewksbury on Friday and won 5-0. D'Urso won first singles 6-2, 6-1, Erin Kaufman won second singles 6-0, 6-0 and Meg Sullivan won third singles 6-3, 7-5. Hayley Hanigan and Lisa Weingarten won first doubles 6-4, 6-4 and senior captains Kim Murphy and Jen Willis won second doubles 6-3, 6-4.

Price Wins Lacrosse Award

Chris Winters, a midfielder from Riverside, Conn., and defenseman Jon Peterson, Fairfax, Va., have been elected co-captains of the 1986 Middlebury College lacrosse team, it was announced recently at a victory celebration following the Panthers winning their seventh ECAC New England Division III title.

The MVP Award was presented to senior attackman Chris "Kiki" White, Ithaca, N.Y., the Most Improved Award went to Steve Kirkpatrick, a sophomore defenseman from Middletown, Conn., and the Baggetaway was voted to senior midfielder Doug Price, Andover.

Price was selected to receive the Baggetaway Award as the player who best exemplifies the spirit of Middlebury lacrosse. Coach Grube calls him one of the best captains he has had and a hard working player who showed total dedication to the team. He emerged as one of the team's top scorers with 22 points on 15 goals and seven assists. The history major is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Price, Phillips Academy, Andover.

The new captains were instrumental in the team amassing a 9-4 record culminating in the ECAC title. The Panthers completed the campaign ranked first in New England in Division III and ninth nationally.

Final Legion Tryouts

Final call for player registration and tryouts for the American Legion team is set for Saturday, May 25, at 5 p.m. and Sunday, May 26, at 10 a.m. at Phillips Academy's varsity field.

Team selection and practice sessions will start the last week of May. Any player not registered by close of day Sunday, May 27, will not be considered for the team. Players unable to attend the scheduled registration and tryouts should call Manager Al Pelletier prior to the set dates to make other arrangements.

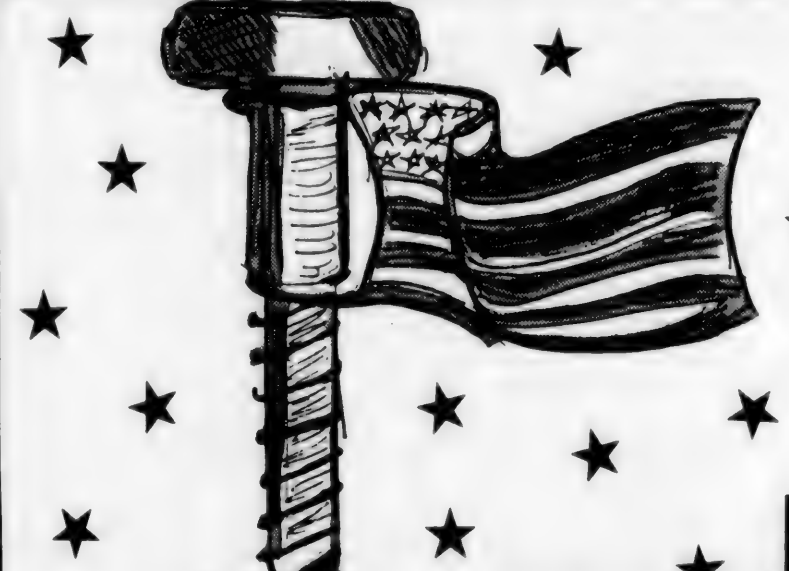

The season is scheduled to open June 9 and all games will be played at Phillips Academy.

The team is seeking a new coach. Hal Fagel has resigned due to other commitments.

Interested candidates for the team roster and coach are urged to call Pelletier.

13-Year-Old League Results

The Braves continued to play well with two wins against the White Sox and Tigers. Todd Mustera (Braves) turned in a fine performance with some well pitched relief by Steve Molineaux in the Pat-Finn-led bid for a Tiger win. The White Sox-Braves game was a pitchers' duel with great defense on both sides. David Blank (Braves) posted a victory against the adept pitching duo of Chris Brouady and Paul Lembo.

Tigers 9 - Giants 3

The Tigers and Giants played closely during the first four innings with good pitching by Chris Lane (Giants) and Keith Abernathy (Tigers).

The fifth inning found eight batters up for the giants, scoring their only three runs. A hit to center by Lane scored two and he scored the third on a passed ball.

The bottom of the fifth was led off by David Hughes with a single to second. The Tigers scored six runs with hits by Joey Licata, Keith Abernathy, Mike Lebreck, Jason Proctor and Sean Veasy.

Jason Proctor, Tigers' relief pitcher, threw two perfect innings to end the game.

White Sox 5 - Yankees 3

The White Sox defeated the Yankees 5-3 behind the line pitching of Paul Lembo and excellent defensive play of Joe Iarrobino. Miek Tiberii led the Sox in hitting with two doubles while Lembo contributed a double and Iarrobino and Brian Ritterhaus added timely base hits. Ed Chassion, Steve Liaw and Brian Yergatin had safeties for the Yankees. Peter Reming went the distance for the Yankees, pitching a fine game after a shaky first inning when the Sox scored four of their five runs. Defensively Liaw and Ed Chassion stood out for the Yankees. Lembo struck out seven and made a couple of fine fielding plays, but the defensive star of the game was Iarrobino who handled seven chances flawlessly and made two outstanding long throws from his shortstop position.

Softball Teams To Be Formed

A player evaluation session and a late registration will be held on Saturday, June 1, at Bancroft Elementary School from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Andover and North Andover girls in the 11-14 age group and the 14 and over senior division traveling team should report for a player evaluation for the purpose of forming teams. Players should plan on practicing for approximately one hour and will need their gloves.

Late registrations for girls ages 8-11 will be accepted during this time. A player evaluation session for this group has not been scheduled yet. For further information, contact Pat Thomson, varsity softball coach.

Scapegoat

Scapegoats were originally any material object, animal, bird or person on whom the bad luck, diseases, misfortunes or sins of an individual or group were symbolically placed. The scapegoat was then forced to leave the community or was destroyed. The practice of scapegoating was popular in many ancient cultures as an annual rite. The term is derived from the goat upon whose head Aaron symbolically laid the sins of the people on the Day of Atonement, after which it was led away into the wilderness.

Andover Little League

National Majors

By Jim Arnold

The National League captured 11 of 14 interleague contests with the American League this past week in the Major League division of the Andover Little League. The Cardinals and Pirates came away big winners with three victories apiece.

The Cards extended their winning streak to five, a string that has included three dramatic come-from-behind last-inning victories. The season's first half will be decided this week when the Cardinals square off against the Pirates and Mets.

Cardinals 8 - Red Sox 7

The Cards, coming off of a win over the Braves that required a comeback from a 6-1 deficit, once again dug themselves a hole to climb out of.

They forged a first-inning 3-0 lead, keyed by run-producing singles from Steve Caltagirone and Alex Sumberg. But, the Red Sox tied it in their share of the first behind the bats of Bob Conchiglia and Sean Ryan.

Then, while hurler Adam Ferry was holding the Red-bird offense at bay, the Sox pushed across single runs in the second, third and fifth frames for a 6-3 advantage. Peter Van Olinda, Conchiglia and David Livingston were chiefly responsible for their scoring.

The Cards managed a five-run flurry in the sixth. Consecutive hits were recorded by Justin Hesinius, Adam Brown, Don Fraser, Dave Corbett and Steve Caltagirone, following two walks.

Matt Harris claimed the win. He went three innings, striking out four while walking just one.

Cardinals 9 - Twins 8

The Cardinals erased an early 7-1 lead, ending a 16-game Twin-win streak, with yet another last inning comeback.

A series of walks, coupled with a base hit by Mark McKenna, gave the Twins a 7-1 second-inning edge. However, the Cardinals stormed back with six second-inning marker to knot the score. Big blows were delivered by Alex Sumberg, Matt Harris and Steve Caltagirone.

A defensive standoff ensued, with McKenna being matched pitch-for-pitch by Cardinal Dave Corbett, who was making his pitching debut. McKenna seemingly ended things with a solo blast over the rightfield fence in the top of the sixth, but the Cards weren't finished.

Don Fraser doubled, Corbett singled and Caltagirone doubled for his second game-clinching stroke in as many outings.

Cardinals 13 - Orioles 10

The Cardinals sealed the game with a 10-run opening inning. They slapped 11 hits in the inning, including two each by Adam Brown, David Corbett and Matt Harris.

Other Redbird highlights included a Brown homer and a solid mound performance from his ten-year-old brother, Andrew.

The Orioles gamely chipped away at the gap, but ran out of innings. Andy Brent and Chad Bowman were key contributors on the field and at the plate.

Mets 17 - White Sox 2

Ten-year-old Todd Murray took to the mound for the first time, leading his team in a stomping of the White Sox. He received plenty of support from his mates, who came up with 14 base hits.

Ryan LeGrow did nothing to hurt his team-leading average, going 4-for-4 on the evening. Todd Allard accounted for three hits in five plate appearances and Bill Batchelder hammered out three safeties and picked up a save in relief of Murray.

Aaron Lang and John Melillo hit well for the White Sox.

FMets 7 - Yankees 5

The Mets needed a victory to keep pace with the Cardinals and were forced to overcome a five-run deficit against the Yanks to do it.

A series of walks preceded a Larry-Gibson double as the Yankees raced to a 5-0 advantage in the top of the first inning. But, the Mets patiently chipped away with a series of hits.

Twins 6 - Braves 5

The Twins rebounded from their first loss of the season. In a well played game, they grabbed an early lead on a double by Greg Poor. The advantage was shortlived. After struggling against starter Mark McKenna, the Braves came to life against pitcher Poor. A home run by Brian Novelline, followed by a single by brother, Andrews, a walk and a timely double by Dan Waitkevitch gave the Braves a four-run lead.

The Twins fought back. Poor scored on a single by Will Lowry after the Braves turned a double play. The Twins scored three in the fourth with Poor and Lowry getting hits again.

Twins reliever faced 10 batters over three innings, allowing just one hit while fanning eight. Mike Henry pitched a strong fifth, but Ian Timmons singled and Poor followed with a game-winning triple in the sixth.

Jamey Lionette was responsible for the go-ahead runs when he powered a bases loaded double. He later came up with a superb running catch in centerfield when the Yanks were threatening.

Jim Landry pitched admirably, throwing two innings of shutout relief ball. Bill Batchelder threw the final three stanzas to capture the win, fanning eight of the nine Yankee batters he aced.

Braves 3 - Yankees 2

The vastly improved Braves claimed a tight decision over the Yanks in a well played game. The Novelline brothers were responsible for the Brave offense with Andrew supplying the punch and Brian showing the savvy.

Andrew drove home two baserunners with a rip in the fourth frame. Then, with the score tied 2-2 in the fifth, Brian doubled, stole third, and came home on a mis-handled ball.

Peter Vail and Michael Henry shared the mound chores, going three innings apiece. Vail started, while Henry got credit for the win with outstanding scoreless relief.

Cubs 10 - Orioles 3

Chris Hall and Sean Darwin combined to hold the Orioles to just six hits as the Cubs squared their season ledger at 3-3.

Darwin pitched the opening three and was effective, allowing just two hits and a run. He was aided by the versatile Jason McCue, who contributed a series of fielding gems. Another gold glove performance was turned in by third baseman Ryan Lynch.

The Cub offensive catalyst proved to be 10-year-old Gus Quattlebaum, who knocked in three runs with three base hits. Danny Feeley and Vincent Bradley also hit the ball well.

Pirates 8 - White Sox 3

The Pirates began their three-game American League sweep with a convincing triumph over the White Sox. Four Pirates came up with two hits apiece, while the team banded out 12 in all.

Matt Orlando, Mike Hagerty, Matt Daniels and Jeff Hurley did most of the damage to the plate, accounting for 13 total bases. The visiting Pirates jumped ahead early and never trailed.

Sharing mound duties were Orlando and Chris Zappala, contributing three innings apiece. Orlando was credited with the win and Zappala given the save.

Mike Distefano turned in an incredible defensive game for the White Sox and stroked a run-producing hit. Mike Famiglietti had a hit and a sparkling defensive effort.

Pirates 11 - Yankees 9

Eleven-year-old lefthander Chris Zappala struck out six and pitched the distance in his inaugural major league start. He has now hurled in three Pirate games, all of them victories.

Mike Hagerty and P.J. Johnson generated much of the Buccaneer offense, with each youngster rapping a pair of hits, good for two runs batted in apiece.

The Yanks never trailed by more than a couple of runs. Mike Pettoruto and Craig Deranian accounted for their offensive heroics, each of whom cracked three safeties.

Saturday's rain cancelled the bulk of the In Town games last weekend. Several of the Essex County teams participated in the Regional Tournament at the University of Massachusetts. Brief results of other games played last weekend appear below:

Under 19 Division

Andover Flames 3

Marblehead United 2

With only 11 players on hand, the Flames played an aggressive first half and scored what ultimately proved to be the goals needed to win the victory points. Torrie Fitzpatrick put them in the lead; Aimee Ross made it 2-0 on a pass from Kathy Kimball and Lisa Marcella booted in the winner. Marblehead kicked in two in the second half, but good defense denied them any more good shots on net. BOW: Erin Sheehan, Joanne Martin and Devra Weisman.

Under 16 Division

Andover Avengers 1

Andover Tornadoes 3

With only ten players on hand, the Avengers were forced into a defensive position throughout much of the game by the aggressive Tornadoes who held a 2-0 lead at the end of the first half. Beth Cronin made it 2-1 earlin the second half, bu the Tornadoes responded with one more to win 3-1. BOW: Jennifer Kasper and Lauri Hess.

Andover Attackers 5

Beverly Marauders 0

The Attackers dominated throughout the game and won a decisive 5-0 victory. Wendy Carrothers scored the game-winner off a corner kick by Laurie Habeb; Vered Pomerantz made it 2-0 at the midway markoff a throw-in by Ha-

Institute

A two-week institute in computer-aided design and construction will be held at Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston June 17-28.

Designed for professionals and educators, this special institute will provide skills to create programs, expand existing institutional structures to encompass the new technology and development, propose and perform state-of-the art application.

A variety of hardware and software tools, including innovative communication and presentation tools such as 2D and 3D graphics, algebraic, computer language modelling and artificial intelligence programming techniques will be utilized.

This course has been designed as a survey of what is new and relevant to the integration of computer systems into the design and construction industry. Approximately 50 percent of the course will be devoted to hands-on training.

beeb. The second half saw tallies by Jackie Lynch, Habeeb and Kelly Ross with Habeeb (another great throw-in), Karen DelSarto and Karen Sopp earning the assists. BOW: Beth Howe and Ann Marie Charland.

Andover United 5 - Lynn Bulldogs 2

Andover dominated the first half of play and kicked in four unanswered goals to take a formidable lead. Chris Sapuppo tallied the first goal on a pass from Scott Friesse; Friesse made it 2-0 with Sapuppo earning the assist. Mark Neaves upped the score on a pass from David Penney; and Sapuppo closed out the first half scoring spree. Sapuppos completed his hat trick early in the second half, booting in Andover's final goal. Lynn denied the shutout on two penalty kicks and United won 5-2. BOW: Michael Schwetz and Neaves.

Under 14 Division

Andover Cobras 2

Sudbury Panthers 1

The Cobras took a 1-0 lead in the first half on a goal by Elizabeth Shea with assist going to Kathy Doran and Erica Goetze. Sudbury evened it up midway through the second half. When Andrea Duffy beat the keeper with five minutes remaining off a pass by Jodi Saunders from a corner kick by Doran, the Cobras won the victory. BOW: Brenna Cronin, Lynn Baker and Duffy.

Andover Buccaneers 0

Salem Witches 5

Andover Buccaneers 0

Beverly Sailors 0

The Buccaneers found themselves under attack from the starting whistle in their game with the Witches in Salem. The defense worked hard and goalkeeper David Ahouse blocked numerous excellent shots, however, Salem's forward line was not to be denied and they took a 4-0 lead at the end of the first half and added one more in the second to win 5-0. BOW: Ahouse for minimizing the loss.

The Buccaneers faced formidable defense in Beverly playing the Sailors, which thwarted their several good attempts to score. Keeper Ahouse and the fullbacks turned back Beverly's many scoring thrusts and the game ended in a hard fought 0-0 tie. BOW: Tyler Vadenboncour and Kevin Murphy.

Andover Raiders 1

Beverly Panthers 1

The Raiders found it difficult to break through the Beverly Panthers' defense and score the elusive goal until midway through the second half when Scott Clementi put them in the lead off an excellent corner kick by Andy Shea. With 20 seconds remaining, Beverly sent the ball in high over the keeper's outstretched hands to even it up and split the points. BOW: Brad Reghitto, Dave Miles and keeper Chris Adams for some excellent saves.

Under 12 Division

Andover Cyclones 4

Marblehead Hot Shots 0

The Cyclones controlled much of the action in their game with Marblehead and won a 4-0 victory. Anne Murnane scored what proved to be the winner off a pass from Lisa Allen; Leigh Ann Catanzaro closed out the scoring in the first half with Karen Ragonese earning the assist. Allen and Murnane scored in the second half, unassisted. BOW: Darlene Prochniak who recorded the shutout.

Plantets 2 - Stars

By Betsy Black

Neither of these evenly matched teams were able to score in the first quarter, however the Planets' Kevin Grasso booted one in during the second quarter. The Stars racked up a point on a penalty kick by Jonathan Moore. John-Christopher Martin (Planets) booted in the winning goal in the fourth quarter from Sean Aeder. BOW: Ty Maheu, Christopher DeMartino and Matias Kvaternik (Planets) and Jonathan Moore and Rand Orbon (Stars).

Galaxies 3 - Meteors 1

George Loukatos scored a hat trick for the Galaxies with three unassisted goals in the first quarter. Their defense held off the Meteors until the fourth quarter when Nat Lopes booted in a goal to deny the shutout. BOW: David Nicolaisen and Greg Gigliotti (Galaxies) and Mark Baker, Greg deBeer and Daniel Wrigley (Meteors).

Comets 8 - Satellites 0

The Satellites played a good game, but were unable to score against the dominant Comets. The Comet goals were from Noah Caruso, unassisted, Scott Shattuck, assisted by Matt Reghitto and two by Reghitto, assisted by Brian Workman, Tim Grogean and Brian Bradley. Tom Torrisi booted a pass in from John Kulsar, who later scored on a penalty kick. Josh Payne and Shawn Hadley closed out the scoring. BOW: Grogean, Bradley and Workman (Comets) and Chris Kyle and Eric Greenstein (Satellites).

Novas 4 - Asteroids 2

This was a flip-flop game with the Novas getting the first goal on a boot from Todd Green. The Asteroids tied it up with a score from Andy Novelline. The Novas' Wayne Mattola scored and the Asteroids' Chris Park again tied it up. The Novas pulled ahead in the fourth quarter and scored two goals (Adam Tenofsky, both assisted by Darius Sidebotham). BOW: David Bevacqua and Sidebotham (Novas) and David Halleran and Danny Prudhomme (Asteroids).

Novas 3 - Stars 3

In last week's game with the Stars, Todd Green kicked in one goal and Adam Tenofsky kicked in two; Tenofsky, Green and Darius Sidebotham earned the assists.

Gazelles 4 - Kangaroos 3

The gazelles truck first with a goal by Honor MacNaughton, assisted by Amy Parziale. Beth Everett answered for the Kangaroos, but Cassie Spieler's score off a pass by Karen Silver put the Gazelles back in the lead. Their lead widened on goals by Colleen Murnane and Marcie Lutsch, with assists by Lutsch and Jennifer Rando. Patricia McNeice's two goals in the fourth quarter brought the Kangaroos close, but the Gazelles held on for the win. BOW: Amy Cohen, Cheryl Battles (Kangaroos) and Karen Castignoli, Melissa O'Brien (Gazelles).

Koalas 4 - Antelopes 1

After an evenly matched first quarter, the Koalas exploded in the second for three goals. Jennifer Lawson scored off a pass from Amanda Holmes, followed by Jennifer Cook's goal with an assist by Christine DerAnanian and DerAnanian with a score on a pass from Tara Griffin. The Antelopes hung tough, scoring on Diane D'Angelo's strong kick and blocking a number of attempts at goal. The Koalas' Renee Pelletier made the game's final goal with an assist from Griffin. BOW: Amy Benedict, Nicole Maheu, Cate Williamson (Antelopes) and Elisa Wilson, Amanda Holmes, Rebecca Keaney (Koalas).

Raccoons 1 - Rabbits 0

In a great defensive struggle, the Raccoons and Rabbits went scoreless until the fourth quarter when Tara Wrobel booted a high kick into the net for the game's only goal. The Raccoons' strong defense staved off several Rabbit goal attempts. BOW: Kate Anthony, Cristina Babine, Mary Austin (Rabbits) and Amy Howard, Noelia Kraternik, Bridget Mason (Raccoons).

Barracudas 1 - Lobsters 0

Neither team could core against the other's good defense and goalkeeping. Finally, in the fourth quarter, Richard Enos, assisted by Stephen Kulcsar and Seth Patterson, was able to find the net for the Barracudas. BOW: Rocky Tradd, Kevin Melia, Alex Payne (Barracudas) and Brian Marshall, Paul Cassidy (Lobsters).

Porpoises 9 - Stingrays 1

Todd Norton, assisted by Glen Aeder and Daniel Queen, scored the lone goal for the Stingrays in the first quarter. The Porpoises dominated the rest of the game as they pressed their attack for nine goals: Jamie Worthen (2), Richard Meyers (2), Rob Wyatt (2), Peter Volpe, Chris O'Connell and Nathan Winters. BOW: Nick Rosen, David Rosman, Kevin Young (Stingrays) and Adam Gray, Cameron Frothingham, Robert Minasian (Porpoises).

Sharks 2 - Moray Eels 0

John Camillus gave the Sharks their first goal. Chris Hoffman, assisted by Nate Roberts, added the second. Kevin Carey, Moray's goalie, made some great saves as he staved off many goal attempts. BOW: Kramer O'Neill, Damon Bellorado, Kyle Kiberd (Morays) and Mark Viola, Kushal Patel (Sharks).

Dolphins 7 - Mantas 3

Charles Calvi, assisted by John Desmond started the scoring for the Dolphins. Quang Van Nguyen scored on an assist by Aaron Currier and then booted in two more goals. The Mantas responded with two goals by Scott Munroe. The Dolphins came back with a penalty kick by Adam McHale and another McHale goal on a pass from Desmond. Peter Radocchia kicked in the third goal for the Mantas. Desmond ended the scoring on a long rush. BOW: Tim Caverly, McHale (Dolphins) and Adam Gurry, Tim McGovern (Mantas).

Cable TV

This time.

In fairness to our paying customers, Rollins CableVision is cracking down on cable theft. Right now our auditing crews are using the latest technology in your area to determine just who is receiving basic or premium services and not paying for them. You see, receiving unauthorized cable TV is a crime. For the guilty, that could mean a jail sentence, stiff fines, or both.

Now, we don't want to see any of our subscribers go through the hassles of arrests, prosecution and possible conviction. So we've come up with an easy way out of trouble for all concerned. If you've been receiving unauthorized cable services, become an honest subscriber now through our Voluntary Compliance Program. Even if you suspect any equipment has been altered without your knowledge, let us know. Either way, we won't ask any questions—if you call us before we call you.

Our Voluntary Compliance Period ends June 15, 1985.

Andover Jazz Ensemble Wins Bronze Medal

Andover's All-Town Jazz Ensemble won a bronze medal in their first competition since their organization last fall.

Competing against bands from throughout eastern Massachusetts, the ten-member ensemble, made up of students from Doherty and West Junior High Schools, performed a program of four pieces with three soloists. Their program at the Massachusetts Association of Jazz Educators Northeast/Southeast District Jazz Festival, held Tuesday at Foxboro High School, included "Satin Doll," "This Masquerade," "Mercy, Mercy, Mercy" and "Hangin' In." Solos were performed by trombonist Garrett Day, 11 Heather Drive, alto saxophonist Greg DeVoir and trumpeter Steve DeVoir, both of 19 Exeter Way.

The DeVoirs and drum player Mike Giammusso, Summer St., each received certificates for outstanding musicianship.

Under the directorship of Steven Piermarini, other band members include Kenneth Gable, 27 Wildwood Road, alto saxophone; Mark Balboni, 92 Bailey Road, tenor saxophone; Barry Finegold, 11 Lavendar Hill Lane, trumpet; David Edwards, 11 LaMancha Way, trumpet/coronet; Bob Nash, 80 Wildwood Road, drums; and James Shay, 4 Cherokee Circle, piano.

Band members were selected following auditions last October.

ing townspeople's comments on business district expansion, the planning board has scheduled a public forum for Tuesday, June 18, at town offices on Bartlet Street.

Jeton has compiled a two-page list of topics that could be covered at that meeting, among them: access to the CBD on foot and by car; parking and traffic; "commercial creep" on Main and Elm streets; design standards for facades, signs, and parking lots; deciding what the character of the downtown should be; the need for more downtown office space; the creation of a buffer zone between residential and business zones.

A complete list of topics to be addressed during the June 18 forum will be advertised in the TOWNSMAN, the planner said. Written comments from citizens who cannot attend that meeting will be welcome, she added. Such factors as vacancy rates, real estate activity, and business turnovers; she'll be assisted by an intern (most likely a graduate student), who has yet to be hired.

In September the planners will hold public meetings on the results of the summer's work, a draft proposal, seeking public reaction. Their draft may then be revised, and a final proposal will be written next fall. (The same process was used last fall, when the board was preparing its 1985 parking and multi-family proposals.)

If town meeting's approval is required (for zoning changes, for instance), public hearings will be held on the CBD proposal next winter (and on any watershed protection proposals that might require town meeting action as well).

Finally, those proposals will be brought to 1986 annual town meeting next spring.

In the meantime, a consultant will be hired to complete the "community profile" portion of the master plan document, Jeton said.

The profile will offer general information about the town, and will serve as a companion piece to the portion of the plan describing goals and objectives. Most of the profile information has already been collected, the planner said.

With the exception of that consultant and Fran Fink, no consultants will be hired to work on the current master planning effort. Most of the work will be done by town staffers.

"I feel that because we know the town," the planner said. "In using in-house staff, we'll be reaching out to community groups — and we'll have a much more credible plan when we're finished."

After the success of this year's master plan chapters (both the parking and multi-family zoning proposals were approved by 1985 town meeting), Andover planners believe they may have a good shot at winning 1986 town meeting support for new business district proposals.

"I think '85-'86 will be a good year for the master plan," Jeton concluded.

Raises

raise the salaries, with members Richard E. Neal, Michael R. Giammusso, David Birnbach and Chairman Robb voting for the increases.

Poore later said she was not opposed to correcting the difference in the assistant superintendent's salaries but thought the across the board increases were too high.

"What the committee did was a broad salary increase," Poore said. "Not just (correcting) the inequities of two individuals. I would have felt more comfortable dealing with that separately."

The salary increases are for this fiscal year, ending June 30, so the raises will be applied retroactive to January 1.

After the vote, Neal praised the work of the four top administrators, saying the inequities in salaries were obvious in relation to the administrators agreement, which covers school principals, assistant principals and various other administrators.

The Open Meeting Law, which went into effect in 1976, allows closed executive sessions of a public body to discuss the reputation, physical condition or character of an employee; to consider eight other Andover boys who admitted to breaking $5,600 worth of windows at the West Junior High, Sanborn and Bancroft Schools even though Andover Police called the Doherty incident more severe than the other vandalism acts because the boys entered the building. The police decided to press charges against this second group and the youths charged in the Doherty case were known to police, unlike the group involved in the rock-throwing incidents.

Punishment

The rock throwers ended up with punishment, meted out by Police Chief James Johnson, police detective John P. Houlihan and Superintendent of Schools Kenneth R. Seifert, that includes community service work, at a rate of $3 an hour, until each boy has worked off his portion of the $5,600 in window damage. That work is more than double the amount of hours assigned to the other boys by the court. Each youth will have to earn about $630 to pay his debt. They completed 40-hour work weeks during two weeks of suspension from school. Each boy is also paying the school department through Seifert, in weekly installments, for the damage. And if the boys default on their payments their parents are responsible for the bills.

There has been no decision from school administrators about suspension, exclusion or expulsion from school for the four youths in the Doherty case, said Seifert, who was not aware of the court decisions. He did say that school officials "would have to come up with something" for the youths, adding that he wished the justice system had worked faster in the Doherty case.

A vandalism policy, accepted in March by the School Committee, includes school suspension or expulsion, restitution and community service assignments for students responsible for vandalism.

Planners

the developer from landscaping completed house lots on Nicoll Drive and Acropolis Circle, Colyer added, as long as he does not take earth materials from unconstructed areas to do that work.)

If the planners are not satisfied with the developer's efforts to clean up alleged violations at Olympic Village, they may consider modifying — or, ultimately, rescinding — the terms of their 1980 subdivision approval and/or special permit to cluster, according to Colyer.

He said town officials have met with representatives of the Arlington Trust Company of Lawrence, which holds a mortgage on Olympic Village, to review the status of the project and explain the planners' concerns.

After discussing their current problems with one section of Olympic Village, section two, the planners turned their attention to the next section scheduled for construction, section three.

Bradshaw said the board foresaw problems with blowing dust and soil erosion in that area. The developer will therefore be required to work on the section in phases, she indicated, completing a few lots at a time before moving on to the next set of lots.

Planner Russ Moran suggested that the board take steps to see that Andover is reimbursed for the time town employees have spent monitoring Olympic Village and coming up with solutions to alleged problems there.

He likened the situation to a possible lawsuit the town is now considering against the Boston and Maine Railroad; town officials hope to recover the cost of fighting a fire along Lowell Junction Road last month which, they maintain, was started by sparks from a B & M train.

Also last Tuesday night, the board discussed what Colyer called "encroachments into the open space" at the Tea Lots cluster subdivision off Woburn Street and Ballardvale Road.

Several Tea Lots residents told the planners that some open space areas within that 24-acre, 32-lot development have been stripped of trees, and that debris has been buried in parts of the open space, which totals nearly 7 acres.

Bradshaw instructed the planning staff to find out where the boundaries of the open space are located, to determine the amount of disturbance within the open space area, and to recommend what needs to be done to restore and stabilize the disturbed area.

According to Colyer, Kalogianis maintains that he is not responsible for problems at the Tea Lots because he has sold all the house lots in that development. The board, however, said that Kalogianis still owns and is responsible for the development's open space.

At one time in ancient Rome, it was forbidden to eat eggs. The egg was regarded as a potential chicken, therefore too valuable to be eaten.

softball at the academy, and he is vice president of the chess club. A Boy Scout, he achieved the rank of Eagle Scout while a member of Troop 73.

He chose Oberlin because it is "a nice small school, and I've heard very good things about it." He added that he was "very happy" to have won the four-year scholarship: "I wasn't really expecting it."

About 190 American colleges and universities participate in the National Merit Scholarship program. Each recipient's award may range from $1,000 to $8,000 over four years of undergraduate study.

Last week's announcement was the third and final group of National Merit awards to be named this year.

Earlier this spring, Andover High senior Kurt Holmy of Hemlock Road was awarded a corporate-sponsored four-year merit scholarship. In a separate announcement, AHS student Jennifer Tilghman of Lovejoy Road and Phillips Exeter Academy senior Peter Durham were each awarded $2,000 merit scholarships.

neighborhood specified that the subdivision property would stay residential until 2001.

Whitney told the board that on advice from Town Counsel Alfred L. Daniels the covenant did not keep the board from approving Hedrick's petition.

One couple opposed to the day care plan was present at the Tuesday hearing.

Town zoning laws allow day care centers in Single Residence A, B and C districts as well as in the Apartment District and General Business, all with special permits from the ZBA.

Whitney had asked Andover Police Chief James Johnson to comment on the traffic in the area before the board made their decision. A police report mentioned by Whitney on Tuesday was critical of the lack of parking spaces and the driveway entrance which was too close to Lowell Street.

Board members participating in the Hedrick decision, along with Whitney, were Jane Griswold, Ernest Hall, Carol McDonough and John Bryden.

The board also sent William and Frances Fay back to the Planning Board before making a decision on a variance they need for their 173 High St. property.

The Fays want to subdivide their 173 High St. land into two lots and a plan to do that was approved by the Planning Board in 1982, subject to approval from the ZBA because the house and barn do not meet setback requirements.

But zoning board members think the planners can settle the zoning problem by removing their condition making the Fays get the variance.

"I'm not disposed to grant this," Whitney said. "It's a situation the Planning Board should resolve by removing the condition, if they can do that."

The matter will be again discussed at the board's next deliberation meeting on Saturday, June 8, following their monthly site visits. Whitney said a decision on the Fay property must be made by June 16.

Correction

James Powers, the Lawrence man who spoke to Andover High students last week about the Feb. 20 accident that killed his young son, lost control of his auto as he was traveling on Rt. 213. A car driving towards Powers was not the cause of the accident, rather Powers swerved to avoid rear-ending an auto and drove into the median and his car flipped over.

Powers admits he had been drinking before the accident. He now lives in a Newburyport half-way house.

The 30-year-old man has told his story at a number of schools since the Andover talk, saying that the speeches were "having a great effect on students. It seems to be working."

"It's the only thing that helps me at all," Powers said. "I'm living in hell."

Scholarships Available

Scholarships of up to $800 that can be applied toward international education and travel programs are available to families who host English-speaking young people of high school age coming to the United States for a semester or academic year. This intercultural exchange program is sponsored by the American Institute for Foreign Study (AIFS) Scholarship Foundation of Greenwich, Conn.

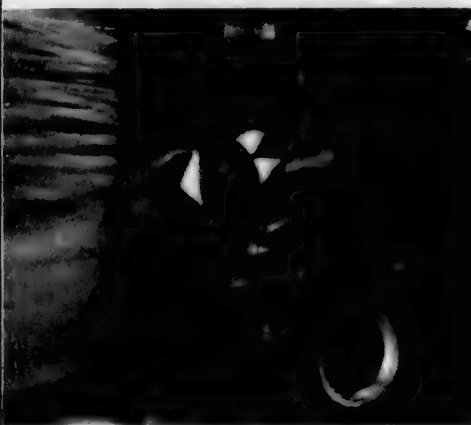

Visiting students come from Germany, Spain, Japan and 20 other countries and attend local high school during their stay.

For free information, send a postcard to Laurie Douglass, Department TE, AIFS Scholarship Foundation, 100 Greenwich Avenue, Greenwich, Conn. 06830.

Academy Rebuilding Fire-Damaged House

A year and two months after fire gutted Phillips Academy's Chapin House, the private school has started rebuilding on the Phillips Street site.

According to Phillips Business manager George Neilsen the school has settled with their insurance company and plan to spend some $400,000 rebuilding the structure, which will house four faculty apartments.

It was last March 11 when Andover firefighters responded to the fire, which fire officials said started in a wastebasket on the third floor of the three-story Victorian building. The structure was gutted as a result of the blaze.

Phillips Academy workers will do much of the work rebuilding Chapin House, Neilsen said. School officials hope the building will be completed in September for the opening of school.

A clapboard finish will be featured on the building's exterior but, said Neilsen, a color for the outside hasn't yet been decided upon.

Installation

North Andover V.F.W. Post 2104 will hold its annual installation of officers on Saturday, May 25, at 7 p.m. Dancing and buffet will follow. The public is invited.

Flavin Graduation Speaker

Andover High School students will get a peek at what the world has in store for them as satirical commentator Dick Flavin, seen locally on WBZ-TV, delivers the annual graduation address on Monday, June 3.

The Channel 4 commentator will be paid $750 for his Andover appearance, his usual speaking fee, said high school senior class advisor Robert King. Although school administrators authorized the expenditure of funds for Flavin's speech, King told THE TOWNSMAN he was worried this "might be setting a precedent. Is that something we want to consider doing?" he asked.

In the past graduation speakers have received a smaller payment, usually between $100 and $200, for their speeches, King said. When comedian Jay Leno addressed graduates his airplane fare to and from Andover was his payment, totaling about $400, said King.

Flavin, 48, was the choice of seniors on a graduation committee. First inquiries for guest speakers, and their fees, followed a vote of the senior class that put comedian Bill Cosby first on the list of choices, followed by actors Bill Murray, Mr. T., football star Doug Flutie and author Stephen King. Their speaking fees were much higher than the school could afford, said King, adding that Flutie was not available because of his USFL playing schedule.

At Channel 4 for 12 years, Flavin, a Wayland resident, was once the political editor at Channel 7, and before that press secretary to former mayor Kevin White. He is a graduate of Stonehill College, in North Easton.

Flavin's speech in Andover won't be his first graduation address. He has spoken to Chelmsford and Manchester, N.H., graduates, said the satirist.

When asked what he would speak to Andover's seniors about, Flavin said, "I'll take a satirical look at the state of the world into which the graduates are proceeding."

Also scheduled to speak to graduates on June 3 are two AFS students who have spent the year at Andover High. Jesus Gonzalez, from Spain, and Masahiro Takano, from Japan, will present school officials with flags from their nations as well as speak about their experiences here. The student speaker, chosen in the annual Goldsmith speaking competition, is Beth Deacon.

China Exhibit

A spectacular exhibition of Chinese scientific and technological inventions will open at Boston's Museum of Science on June 2. "China: 7,000 Years of Discovery" will feature ten highly-skilled artisans from the People's Republic of China demonstrating many innovations of ancient China.

Most folks are about as happy as they make up their minds to be.

Insect Stings

Insect stings can be annoying at best and potentially life-threatening at worst.

"If you are stung," says Dr. Byron Roseman of Chelmsford Medical Associates, "the normal reaction is pain, redness, swelling or itching confined to the area or portion of extremity. Wash it with cold water to help keep the toxin from spreading and try not to scratch it. If you have Adolph's meat tenderizer on hand, there may be some benefit to sprinkling some on the site to reduce swelling."

To reduce the chances of bug bites on small children, have them wear hats or caps which have been generously sprayed with insect repellent.

If symptoms of a bug bite spread to other areas of the body not directly connected to the site of the sting, it may be a systemic reaction. If the symptoms progress to chest constriction, abdominal pain or, in the most extreme cases, difficulty in swallowing, labored breathing, thickened speech and confusion, the person is having a serious reaction and should be seen by a physician immediately.

Those who have had a serious reaction to one sting may well be allergic and need to take precautions. A second sting to an allergic person can be more serious than the first, even life-threatening. Special first aid kits for insect bites are available and should be carried at all times by anyone who has a serious allergy to bee stings.

"Our move to a larger new studio engenders excitement and hope of continued fulfillment. My three years of teaching here in Andover have been a wonderful experience, due in large part to the smiles and hard work of my students and the moral support of friends and family. The harmonious and beautiful musical background during classes, provided by Tanya Kodinsky and Karin Kohl, adds tremendously to the atmosphere in which to teach and learn. It is my fondest wish to continue in this tradition, and that many others will join our 'ballet family' in years to come."

—Margaret A. Earle,
director/teacher
Le Studio de Ballet

Le Studio de Ballet is moving from its temporary quarters in Faith Lutheran Church to a spacious studio, complete with sprung wood floors and carpeted dressing room, at 2 Dundee Park, Andover. The move, according to director/teacher Margaret Earle, will be completed in time for the beginning of the summer adult term, for which registration is now being accepted.

The adult term, which begins June 3 and runs thru August 30, includes daytime and evening classes and will accommodate students of all levels from age 18 up. Starting July 8, there will also be classes for children from eight years of age. Earle, who received her training at the Royal Danish School of Ballet in Denmark, grades her classes from the basic level—which covers young beginners, senior citizens and adults new to ballet who desire a slow introduction to techniques—thru pointe.

Following the summer term, Le Studio de Ballet will hold registration for fall sessions, which begin September 16. For further information, call 470-1381.

Susan Stella and Cathy Beattie, Proprietors of Andover Antiques

Andover Antiques

If you think of antique shops as "stuffy", you'll be pleasantly surprised by Andover Antiques. This intriguing shop at 188 North Main Street, Andover (where Stevens Street meets Route 28), is dishing up some refreshing surprises to celebrate the coming of the warm seasons.

First on proprietors Susan Stella and Cathy Beattie's list of coming events is a weekly open-air sale. "Starting in June," says Susan, "We will hold a weekly antique tag sale every Saturday, outside in our yard." The sale will be set for standard store hours, weather permitting.

Also starting in June, Andover Antiques will lead monthly tours to locations of historic or antique-related interest. Cathy and Susan invite those interested to stop by the shop for further information, or call 475-5211.

Further, Andover Antiques' dealers plan to offer workshops, free to the public, dealing with subjects such as oriental rugs, furniture refinishing, chair caning and antique quilts. These, too, will take place in the near future.

Andover Antiques is a co-op of five very congenial dealers. Besides Susan and Cathy, who specialize in pine and country furniture and quilts, there are Charlie and Lena Nargozian, who sell, clean and repair oriental rugs, and Vick Forand and Tony Circo, who both specialize in oak and other furniture. The variety of goods, which also includes a recently-added assortment of antique jewelry, linens and quilts, is impressive. To allow for a steady turnover, all merchandise is priced to sell.

Each dealer takes his or her turn staffing Andover Antiques; all specialize in helpfulness. Besides selling on-hand inventory, dealers can put a requested item on the shop's "request file": when Andover Antiques acquires the sought-after piece, a dealer notifies the potential buyer.

Stop in at Andover Antiques, 188 North Main Street, and find out about the shop's fresh plans for spring and summer. Phone: 475-5211.

Down The Years

Police are still investigating the bold nighttime robbery Monday at the W.T. Grant store in the Shawsheen Plaza. Nearly $4,000 worth of merchandise was taken sometime Monday night or very early Tuesday morning, and police theorize that a key may have been used. There was no indication of a forcible entry or exit from the building, according to investigators.

One hundred and two members of the graduating class of Andover High will continue their education, according to information released this week. Headmaster Lindsay J. March indicated that 66 of the 165 graduates will attend 58 degree-granting colleges located in 20 states. Others will continue their education at junior colleges and various schools offering specialized work. Seven members of the senior class will enter the Armed Forces, and another seven are still considering some school.

10 Years Ago — May 1975

The purchase of Sacred Heart as a possible solution to overcrowding in Andover schools, was ruled out at least temporarily by the School Committee Tuesday night. The committee favored further investigation of a "4-4-4" grade restructuring plan instead, but did stamp "at this point in time" on the Sacred Heart refusal, leaving the door open in case they change their minds in the future. An average of 500 students is expected in Andover schools for the next five to eight years.

Robert E. Finneran, Managing Editor of the Andover TOWNSMAN, has been elected to a three-year term on the Alumni Board of Governors of Providence College, Providence, R.I. Finneran will represent the class years 1953 through 1957 as a result of the recently concluded election held nationally among the members of the alumni association.

Andover officially became a Bicentennial town on Monday with the presentation of the Bicentennial flag at ceremonies in front of the Town House. Congressman Paul Tsongas spoke at the program and presented the flag to Mrs. Norma Gammon, chairman of the Andover Bicentennial Commission.

SELLING YOUR HOUSE

By Lou Patracone

LIVING IN YOUR NEST EGG

Rising real estate values got the credit for much of the significant increase in family net worth from 1977 to 1983 that was reported by a government study. Home equity is usually a large asset - often the largest one - in family wealth.

If you own your home, it's probably the biggest chunk of your personal "fortune." If you've lived there long, you've watched its value climb.

Now that it's time to sell, what is your property worth? Are you up on the current real estate market? Do you know how today's lending rates affect prices? Do you know what prospects are looking for - what amenities bring more money, which may be liabilities?

It's smart to call in a knowledgeable real estate agent to help you set the right market price - and then make sure you get the best possible return on your real estate equity.

It's smart to call in the experts at -

EFFICIENT FIREPLACE USE

A fireplace is a valuable asset when it comes to selling a home. However, in recent years, it has been taking it on the chin as a great heat waster.

When used improperly, the fireplace deserves all its bad press. In normal use, the fireplace draws out about 20% per hour of expensively heated air in the room in which it's located. However, the fireplace can be made more efficient. You can buy a hollow tube grate which bends around the logs and recirculates the heated air back into the room.

Some grates are equipped with electric blowers. It is claimed that these beauties return heated air 5 to 1 for any heated air lost.

A second alternative is to install an energy-efficient door on the fireplace. The glass door prevents heat loss, radiates heat back into the room and allows you to enjoy watching the fire.

Be sure that the damper is closed when the fireplace is not in use and only burn seasoned hard woods.

Chamber Forum Focuses On Business District Expansion

By Sue Aucella Deacon

With its large population of homeowners, many of whom enjoy healthy "expandable incomes," Andover has become a "status town" in the eyes of commercial developers, according to a local commercial realtor.

So many businesses are so eager to move into downtown Andover that "one way or another," he predicted, the town's central business district (CBD) is about to expand.

"There is a momentum in this town, a commercial momentum that everyone can feel," Edward Simon of ABCO Realty, Andover, told a Chamber of Commerce breakfast meeting yesterday morning at school offices on Whittier Street. "We're on a roll right now, and you can't stop that roll."

Some members of the business community, however, wondered if future town meetings might stand in the way of CBD growth — and Planning Board Chairman Margaret Bradshaw offered her opinion that "this town is not going to rezone the entire downtown" for commercial development.

"Part of the community may be on a roll," she told Simon, "but part of the community is on a big (anti-growth) backlash, too."

Some citizens, she explained, are tired of seeing new houses springing up all around them, sorry that residential land has been rezoned for industrial use, and reluctant to rezone more residential land for business use.

And some townspeople want proof that Andover needs a larger business district, Bradshaw said: "They're asking, Why turn a four-family house into lawyers' offices? Why do we need it?"

The Chamber of Commerce hosted the Wednesday breakfast meeting to solicit members' ideas on the future of the downtown business zone.

Town officials, who are about to launch a new study of possible CBD expansion (please see story elsewhere in this edition), welcomed the forum as a chance to learn what's on the minds of downtown business people.

"The Planning Board is going into a CBD study, and your input is required and requested," Town Manager Kenneth Mahony told the group. "Please come forward and talk to us."

In addition to Mahony and Bradshaw, town officials who attended the meeting included Planning Board members Michael Houghton and Russ Moran, and Principal Planner Nancy Jeton of the Community Development and Planning department.

Simon, who offered brief remarks at the start of the meeting, emphasized that commercial developers are very much attracted to Andover at the moment.

"Andover has become an extremely successful commercial area," he said. "All we hear right now in this area is 'Andover.'"

CBD expansion is inevitable, he said, and he encouraged Chamber members to help town officials develop a plan for that expansion: "Otherwise, you're going to have a hodgepodge here."

William Scanlon of Scanlon Hardware asked if Andover could expect town meeting — which vetoed four private CBD rezoning proposals last month — to support CBD expansion. "How are we ever going to please everybody?" he asked.

The manager responded, "First, we've got to get there with a proposal. If we have good community input, it can be done." He added that the planners' "track record" for developing proposals acceptable to town meeting voters is "excellent."

Chairman Bradshaw noted that it took several years of town meeting "no" votes before the board came up with parking and multiple-family housing by-laws that 1985 town meeting was willing to approve.

In that light, she said, it seems unlikely that town meeting will be quick to "rezone the entire downtown commercial, pressure or not."

When asked what town officials have in mind for old Town Hall on Main Street, the manager said he believes the U.S. Postal Service may agree to open a retail post office there, styled after an 1870s post office — complete with brass railings and spittoons.

(He added that postal authorities are apparently "closing in on" a Stevens Street site as the home of a new Andover post office; that move will leave the Main Street post office vacant.)

The Andover Historical Society is still interested in opening a permanent exhibit at the old Town House as well, although details of that plan remain to be worked out.

Predictably, the question of downtown parking arose yesterday morning. Simon called it "the worst irritant that this town has," and as one solution, he proposed that "a tasteful parking garage is a must." A garage could be privately funded, he said, and "the business community owes it to the town of Andover to do it."

As a more immediate solution, Mahony said the new town lot on Bartlet Street, now under construction, will include both two-hour and four-hour "feeder" meters, to prevent all-day commuter parking but allow all-day parking for downtown employees.

The town is also considering plans for an Andover-only bus line that would bring parkers downtown from parking lots in outlying areas, the manager said.
